Historic old corn mill on the market at £1.2m

The historic former corn mill in Rugeley

AN historic former corn mill in Rugeley has gone up for sale with a price tag of £1.2 million.

The Old Corn Mill, located next to the Trent and Mersey Canal, dates back to 1863. Estate agents dealing with the sale say the unique property has the potential to be transformed into plush town centre apartments.

The mill is right next to the new Tesco store being built in the town and in an area that is due to be redeveloped.

Rugeley Town Council leader Neil Stanley said the historic mill was an attractive property to potential investors as the town was currently on the up. He said: "It has been empty for quite some time now. It has from time to time been occupied with small workshops but nothing permanent.

"It's quite rundown but with the Tesco development and the canal path being enhanced, it becomes a very attractive property."

As well as the four-storey former mill, there are cottages on the land surrounding it. It is on the market with Chase Independent.

The company's website says: "The Old Mill has the potential for development into apartments aimed at young professionals whilst the adjoining land would suit new build homes, with the canal side location being an attractive selling point. The area is currently undergoing extensive development and will be an attractive addition to the town and surrounding area.

"The land to the side of the mill would suit a selection of two and three bedroom properties or retirement homes as desired, with canalside views."

A grant is available to the new buyer as the building is located in a conservation area.

Work on the new Tesco store that has been in the pipeline for 10 years started last month and it is due to open in September.

Thousands expected at carnival comeback

A COMMUNITY extravaganza will take place in Brereton on July 13 – the first time it has been held in almost three decades.

Thousands of people are expected at the first Brereton Carnival for 27 years which has been resurrected by Brereton & Ravenhill Association for Community Events (Brace).

The group has also been awarded a £5,000 grant from the Local Trust's Star People Programme.

Chairman Steve Hammersley said community spirit was behind the revival of the event.

He said: "There are two generations in the parish which have never experienced the carnival.

Reinforced

"I firmly believe there is now an appetite for these sort of community events and the interest and involvement we have had has only reinforced that."

A procession will take place at noon before assembling for a party with live music. The evening theme will be childhood memories.

During the afternoon there will be music from the Party Poppers and Trip In The Country. There will also be displays and exhibitions from local groups.

HEALTH CHIEFS TACKLE CANCER DEATHS TALLY

CANCER treatment in Cannock could be transformed under multi-million pound proposals aimed at prolonging life.

By Rob Golledge

Health bosses have teamed up with charity MacMillan Cancer Support to overhaul the approach to dealing with cases.

Cannock has one of the worst early death rates from cancer in the country with two people dying prematurely with the disease every week.

Family doctors responsible for setting health priorities in the area are drawing up plans to boost detection and survival rates as well as overall treatment.

Figures

More people have been dying early of cancer in Cannock for the past 12 years than the national average, according to figures from the English Public Health Observatories

At £135 per person, cancer spending in the town is also higher than the national average of £108 per person. But still more people are dying of the disease than elsewhere.

Andrew Donald, chief officer of the GP-lead Clinical Commissioning Groups in Stafford and Cannock Chase, said a new model of care would put the patient first.

He said: "We are spending more money on cancer but getting worse outcomes compared to other areas that spend less. There is a multiplicity of reasons behind this so we need to look at what and how we are doing things.

"Across Staffordshire we will be working with MacMillan. This is a big project and the idea behind it is to create better cancer pathways. What that means is that we improve the experience of the patient along every step of their treatment.

"Patients can feel that they are constantly being passed from person or one part of the health service to another. At the moment it is too fragmented. That needs to be addressed.

"We will being bring all the different aspects of care together to put the patient first. MacMillan bring their specialism to the process and their input will be crucial."

The announcement was welcomed by Cannock Chase Council leader George Adamson. He said: "It is very good news for the people of Cannock Chase that money is being invested in cancer services.

"Cannock Chase has the worst health figures in the whole of Staffordshire so anything done to address that has to be a good thing."

The final details of the project are currently being ironed out before an official launch later this year.

The MacMillan partnership will be rolled out across Staffordshire and Stoke and will also look at how to improve overall care for all patients of a terminal illness.

Support plea as funds lack closes group

A STRUGGLING support group that has helped families across Cannock and Rugeley has closed two of its four Chase branches because of a shortage of funds.

Family Focus is in urgent need of financial support after being told it would lose its funding provided by Staffordshire County Council.

The group, which has operated in Rugeley for the past 15 years and Cannock for five, provides a helping hand to parents who are experiencing problems like depression, supporting them with childcare as they get their life back on track.

The closure of the service based at St Paul's church hall in Rugeley will see three employees laid-off and 26 volunteers without a role.

Project co-ordinator Linda Shaw said its loss would hit those already in difficulty the hardest.

The group must now find at least £50,000 of private investment by the end of May in order to run a stripped back service.

Health group aims to tackle obesity

INCREASING life expectancy in Cannock and reducing obesity in Stafford are among the priorities set by the new Cannock Chase Clinical Commissioning Group.

Chase residents currently live for less than the national average of 77.7 years for men, 81.8 years for women.

As well as prolonging life for its patients, the CCG has also set reducing health inequality, delivering more care and treatment at home or in clinics, and developing more programmes with partner groups such as charities and local authorities as its main goals.

Lead officer Andy Donald, who oversees both the Cannock and Stafford & Surrounds groups, said: "These goals are audacious and set over five or six years.

"While Cannock Chase and Stafford will generally be considered as affluent areas, we have pockets of deprivation.

"In Cannock, life expectancy is too low. Obesity is also a major concern, and we want to see a reduction in diagnosed and non-diagnosed cases."

The two CCGs have already been tasked with reshaping health care in the area following the Stafford Hospital scandal.

Mr Donald said: "We have to change our approach to delivering health care. The CCGs are more transparent and are all about seeing patients as partners."

'Lack of vision' claim on watchdog's report

TRUST board members claim a report proposing the £70 million downgrading of Stafford and Cannock Chase hospitals is "incredibly poor" and lacks vision.

Mid Staffordshire NHS Foundation Trust board members met for the first time in public since health watchdog Monitor released its recommendations.

These include looking into is the possibility of constructing new buildings on either or both hospital sites.

The trust board outlined for the first time a number of counter-proposals and agreed existing buildings should be retained and used instead.

Criticising the Monitor report, trust chief executive Mrs Lyn Hill-Tout said: "I'm deeply disappointed with the contingency planning team report. It introduces new uncertainty to our staff.

"The report lacked a vision about what services will look like at the end of this time.

"We believe there is an alternative to the downgrading. We have set down some options that we want to be considered."

Surgery

Non-executive directors Eleanor Chumley-Roberts and Dennis Haywood described the report as "really disappointing" and "incredibly poor".

Monitor has suggested that emergency surgery would no longer take place at Stafford, women would no longer give birth there and intensive care patients would be sent further afield.

The three-year programme of changes would also see a 24/7 A&E department return to Stafford but only for minor injuries, with around 50 per cent of cases sent elsewhere.

Some paediatric services would also be moved, while staff at Stafford and Cannock could be relocated or out of a job altogether.

Dignitaries pay homage as Anzac Day is celebrated

THE Royal British Legion, cadets and ex-servicemen will pay their respects at the annual Anzac commemorative service later this month.

Standard bearers will gather at the British Military Cemetery on Cannock Chase at 10.15am on Sunday, April 28.

The service is principally held to remember the Gallipoli Landing in 1915 by the troops of the Australian and New Zealand Army Corps. It is also a tribute to all the Anzac soldiers who served in other areas in the 1914-18 war, and the thousands who fought during 1929-45 in North Africa, Burma and the Pacific.

Diplomatic and service representatives from Australia and New Zealand and civic leaders from Staffordshire, West Midlands and surrounding counties will be in attendance. The service starts at 11am and is open to the public. It will conclude with a wreath-laying ceremony and the sounding of the Last Post and Reveille.

A British Legion spokesman said: "Anzac Day, April 25, is celebrated around the world and we are proud to stand shoulder-to-shoulder with them in this act of remembrance."

Beauty queen's new salon

Miss Teen Charity Heart Ellie Martin and Miss Dream Street Beauty Queen Sophie Morris with shop owner and Miss Teen Galaxy Wales Jess Watts, all aged 17

A BEAUTY queen has launched her own salon in Cannock. Jessica Watts, the reigning Miss Teen Galaxy Wales, has funded the beauty salon alone and runs it from a shop where her mother sells gowns.

The 17-year-old has now officially opened her store Dragonflies Beauty on Park Road, Cannock. It runs alongside her mother Carol's business Dragonfly Frocks.

Miss Watts, of Turnberry estate, Bloxwich, said: "I saved up to get all the products myself. I wanted to open the shop on my own, but couldn't find a way of it being financially viable being just me."

Carol, whose dress-making side of the store opened two weeks ago, said: "Jess has solely funded the beauty business herself and will be run as a complete separate entity. We are very proud that she has strived to achieve this."

Decision over 2013 cycle tour defended

TOUR of Britain cycle race organisers have defended their decision not to include Cannock Chase and Rugeley on this year's route.

Thousands of spectators took to the streets last year and it was hailed as a big boost to the local economy. The 92-mile fifth stage route also included Stone, Brocton and Blithfield.

However, the route for Staffordshire in 2013 only includes Stoke-on-Trent.

Tour spokesman Peter Hodges said: "Essentially every year the Tour of Britain moves around a little, so there is route variation each year.

Maximum

"Staffordshire's been very lucky in that it's had it for the past few years, whereas other areas of Britain haven't.

"Unfortunately we only have a maximum of eight days for the race, so if new areas, such as the Lake District or North Wales are to come into the route, other areas have to drop off."

This year's tour is scheduled to take place from September 15-22. Stage four of the race starts in Stoke-on-Trent on September 18.

Warning over dog disease

A CANNOCK vets practice is warning dog owners to be on the lookout for a potentially deadly dog disease spreading across the country.

Susan Lunn, partner for Vets4Pets, East Cannock Road, is warning dog owners to be on the lookout for the disease caused by infection from the lungworm parasite.

Lungworm is a parasite that dogs become infected with after eating common garden slugs and snails carrying the larvae.

Once inside the dog's system, the parasite travels through the body eventually ending up in the heart.

Symptoms

If the infection is left untreated, the dog's health can rapidly deteriorate, and can even result in death.

Mrs Lunn said: "Dogs which have picked up a lungworm infection can show a number of different symptoms. Lungworm often gives rise to breathing difficulties, ranging from a lack of energy to coughing. Dogs may also show general signs of being unwell including weight loss, reduced appetite and vomiting.

"Persistent bleeding, even from minor cuts is also a sign to watch out for."

Elderly left egg-static by Easter delivery

Caregivers Lisa Sanders and Kirsty Byrne dressed in their Easter best with client Barbara Pytlinski

ELDERLY recipients of a Cannock care service are egg-static with the seasonal gifts handed out to them by caregivers in Easter dress.

The Home Instead Senior Care service challenged their team of carers to come up with the most creative Easter Bonnet design possible as part of a competition to cheer up their clients

Wearing their creations, the caregivers visited the elderly people that they help, distributing Easter eggs and sharing tea and hot cross buns.

Owner of Home Instead Fran Sayer was left with the tough task of choosing the bonnet competition winner that finally went to Kathy Tudor. She designed two beautiful bonnets and was presented with a voucher for a meal at a local restaurant

Pipped

Mrs Sayer said: "Our caregivers worked really hard and came up with some fabulous designs but Kathy just piped them to the post.

"Kathy's creations were being worn around Cannock as the team hand delivered Easter Eggs to each of their clients."

Barbara Pytlinski, one of the first clients to see the bonnets, said: "It was such a lovely surprise to see the girls all dressed up in their Easter finery and to have an Easter egg hand delivered by my Caregivers and the Home Instead Office, it lets me know that someone cares."

Drive for younger traders as market profits double

PROFITS at markets across Cannock Chase have doubled in the past year, new figures show, as a drive to recruit younger traders was unveiled.

Cannock Market Hall and the town's Prince of Wales covered market, together with Rugeley Market Hall made profits of £47,428 for Cannock Chase Council in 2011/2012, compared with just £18,030 the previous year.

by Rob Golledge

The district council this week revealed it had cut the costs of staging the market by almost £40,000 from £251,309 last year by changing energy providers.

Bosses plan to plough some of the profits into introducing new measures such as Wi-fi for traders.

Occupancy

Despite profits increasing for the council, figures show trading remains difficult with overall income down by £8,000 to £298,557.

While Cannock Market Hall is the best performing council-run market with a stall occupancy rate of 89 per cent, the fortunes of Rugeley Market Hall and Prince of Wales market continue to be poor. Occupancy levels in Rugeley are at 64 per cent, down from 70 per cent last summer. Cannock's covered market currently has 67 per cent of stalls trading.

Geoff Winslow, the council's strategic assets manager, said: "The success is very much down to our market staff and the traders themselves who have worked closely together to promote the markets.

"We are currently investigating the introduction of Wi-fi as we feel this may attract the younger trader. Attracting the younger shopper is perhaps the biggest challenge."

Margaret Lavender, secretary of the Market Traders' Federation, said: "The fact the council is making more money from the markets is good news and trade is healthy."

Sports initiative to keep children busy

FIREFIGHTERS will be transforming open spaces into dynamic sporting arenas for young people to across the Chase to enjoy throughout Easter.

Dodgeball, football and volleyball can be played in the portable StreetStadia by those aged eight-to-17.

Staffordshire Fire and Rescue Service's community liaison officer Ruth Haigh said: "This is a fantastic opportunity for the local young people in the area to enjoy physical activities and make new friends."

The StreetStadia will be rolled out across Cannock, Hednesford and Rugeley on selected dates until April 14, from 3-6pm. Dates, times and locations are available on www.staffordshirefire.gov.uk

Mark Leeson, from Trudy's Trust, and St Peter's Primary pupil Megan Young, aged 10

Heads up for charity

PUPILS in Hednesford were determined to get ahead – creating hats, caps bonnets, berets and even an exotic red Indian headdress for charity.

Youngsters at St Peter's Primary in Hednesford were among the schools taking part in Wear A Hat Day to raise awareness of Trudy's Trust.

The charity was launched two years ago to raise money for brain tumour research following the death of 35-year-old Trudy Shingler, from the condition.

Her parents Mark and Sue Leeson, of Rugeley, run the trust and took part in the fun day. St Peter's is attended by Trudy's five-year-old son Phoenix.

Other participating schools were Norton Canes High, Hednesford Valley High and St Luke's Primary in Cannock.

Mr Leeson went to each school to tell pupils about the charity and its work. His visit coincided with national Wear A Hat Day set up by Brain Tumour Research which raises £7 million each year to fight the disease.

Forensic scientist Trudy attended Aldridge Community School pupil. A former beauty queen who held a string of titles, she died in February 2011.

THE BEST OF PETER RHODES

DAVID Miliband is quitting British politics to become president and chief executive of the International Rescue Committee which is apparently in New York. Own up. How many of us thought it was based on Tracy Island?

❐❐❐❐❐❐❐

ED MILIBAND says the political scene will be "a poorer place" without his brother David. This is the same Ed Miliband who stabbed David in the back to get the Labour leadership. "Breathtaking gall" doesn't even begin to describe it.

❐❐❐❐❐❐❐

TALKING of warring families with a tendency to impale each other on sharp objects, I was at Stratford this week for a memorable Hamlet starring Jonathan Slinger as the Dane. There aren't many laughs in it but the one about the Brits never fails. Hamlet appears to be going mad and his stepfather packs him off to England. Why England? The gravedigger explains: "He shall recover his wits there; or, if he do not, it's no great matter (because) there the men are as mad as he."

❐❐❐❐❐❐❐

A SCHOOL in Essex has banned triangular flapjacks after one was thrown, hurting a pupil. A reader says this should be only the beginning of the campaign to stamp out three-sided foodstuffs: "What about Dairylea segments, Toblerone and those green chocolate triangles in Quality Street? Lethal."

❐❐❐❐❐❐❐

ALTERNATIVELY, perhaps the school could try to do something to prevent its pupils from throwing food at each other. Go on, call me a rabid old reactionary.

❐❐❐❐❐❐❐

MEANWHILE, back at the Royal Shakespeare Theatre, traditional applause was drowned out by some theatregoers whooping while others whistled through their fingers or stood up and clapped with arms fully extended, blocking the view of those behind. It is selfish, show-offish and quite unnecessary for there is nothing more potent at the end of a great show than the mighty crescendo of 1,000 pairs of hands. Perhaps the whoopers and whistlers would be happier following baseball.

A 14-YEAR-OLD girl is savaged to death by four dogs and the old, old cry goes up: "It's not the breed, it's the owners." So why was no-one surprised when we heard that the breeds in this tragedy were bull mastiffs and Staffordshire bull terriers?

NURSES are to be taught how to nurse. A nation rejoices. But while it may seem commonsense to put trainee nurses on wards and teach them the basics of feeding, washing and toilet care, there is one problem. It is the worrying fact that a certain percentage of the population are not caring people. And as anyone in the NHS will tell you, a number of these people, who should never be allowed within a mile of sick and vulnerable people, somehow gravitate into the medical profession, both on the wards and in management. They are brusque and unkind. But above all they are bullies and they can quickly browbeat and corrupt younger, better health workers.While the latest back-to-basics scheme is to be commended, it will not produce kinder wards until NHS bosses deal with the bullies.

Gallantry medal goes under hammer

The Albert Medal

A RARE gallantry medal awarded to a railway worker who risked his life to save a child is to go under the hammer.

Porter Arthur Eccleshall received the Albert Medal in 1908 after jumping off a platform in front of a train to throw a young boy clear. He was knocked unconscious after being hit by the train at Bushbury, Wolverhampton.

Aged just 19 at the time, he was the youngest railwayman to get the solid bronze medal – one of 290 issued. It will be auctioned Cuttlestones' Auction Rooms, Clarence Street, Wolverhampton,Wolverhampton on April 19.

Mr Eccleshall, of Lichfield, married Edith Emily Banks in 1915 and they had two daughters. In the First World War, as a private in the South Staffordshire Regiment, he was a Prisoner of War in Minden, Germany, and was awarded the British War Medal and Victory Medal. After retiring he was a voluntary steward at Cannock Hockey Club and died after a heart attack, aged 69, in August 1958.

Auctioneer Ben Gamble said: "It's a great piece of local history and we're proud to be selling it."

Viewing will be from 10am to 7pm on April 18 and also on the morning of the sale.

Tributes are paid after death of Mystic Ed, 57

TRIBUTES have been paid to a television personality from Cannock who died after a short illness.

Psychic celebrity Mystic Ed, whose real name is Francis Ward, passed away at Stafford Hospital. He was 57.

A message on his website read: "Dear Friends, it is with great sorrow that I have to announce the passing of Ed, he passed away at 3.15pm on the 27th March at Stafford Hospital after a short illness. He will be sadly missed."

The flamboyant entertainer lived in Cannock with his partner Brian Murphy, also known as Fluffy. More than 100 people have left a message on Ed's Facebook page paying their last respects.

One user wrote: "The world will be a lot less colourful without Ed," while another added: "May he rest in peace and send us a message from the other side."

Ed began working as a spiritualist in 1995 and became a hypnotherapist after a 10-minute slot on BBC radio.

Shortly after, he appeared on a two-hour show and gave psychic readings to celebrities including Tessa Sanderson, Hi De Hi's Ruth Madoc and astrologer Russell Grant.

Devastated

He featured on programmes including Can't Cook Won't Cook with Ainsley Harriot and Good Morning with Nick Owen and was chosen as a makeover expert for Channel 5's World of Wonder Series Housebusters.

Close friend and owner of J J's Hair Studio in Hednesford, Theresa Drury, said: "Ed was a really close friend. He was a wonderful, caring man and he meant so much to me.

"I woke up the morning after he died and the sun was shining, I know that was him because he was a larger than life character.

"I am really devastated to have lost such a good friend and I know the whole community will be too."

Ed went on to have his own radio show on BBC Radio Shropshire called Mystic Ed-Lines and became an accredited wizard with the Wizards Guild in Minneapolis. He held a civil ceremony with Mr Murphy in November 2008.

Ed raised money for hospices including Katharine House and a spokesman for the charity said he would be sorely missed.

His funeral will be held on April 19 at 3.30pm at Stafford Crematorium. Mourners are asked to wear bright colours.

Newlife given a boost by quizzers

A CHARITY quiz raised more than £600 for Cannock's Newlife Foundation.

The quiz, organised by Cuttlestones auctioneers & valuers, which has sale rooms in both Penkridge and Wolverhampton, saw 12 teams vie for a top prize of a case of wine. A fish and chip was also served.

The amount raised was made up from ticket sales, a raffle and a generous contribution of £280 takings donated by Andrew Wilson of Old School Wines.

Success

Auctioneer Dave Eglington said: "We're delighted that the quiz was such a success and would like to thank everyone who supported the event. We'll be hosting plenty of other events in the coming 12 months to help us on our way to raising our target of £5,000."

Snow halts rugby work

BAD weather has temporarily halted work on Cannock Rugby Club's £200,000 upgrade.

But bosses say they are still on track to have the club on Stafford Road, Huntington, open by the end of June.

Chairman David Taylor said: "The work has been delayed because of the snow, but we had given ourselves a few weeks' grace anyway, so we should still open on time."

Club bosses say two outdated changing rooms, built in the 1980s, were long overdue a refit.

The club currently has three full senior squads, junior team and a female squad.

Parade of battalion colours for final time

THE old colours of the former Staffordshire Regiment are set to be paraded for the last time in a summer spectacular.

The military ceremony will see the four battalions of The Mercian Regiment appearing alongside each other for the first time since their formation in 2007.

Each has been using the colours of the regiment they replaced during Army reorganisation six years ago with the 3rd Battalion The Mercian Regiment (3Mercian) taking on the mantle of The Staffords and including their name in its title.

The four battalions will now receive their own colours during a ceremony at Worcester Rugby Club's Sixways Stadium, with the old colours being paraded for the final time.

Cadets and regimental associations are also expected to parade and Staffordshire Regiment secretary Jim Massey said: "It should be a great occasion."

It will be the first and last time the four battalions have appeared together since their formation as 3Mercian is set to merge with the other two regular Army battalions.

Pet owners urged to vote for favoured charity

Vet Hamish Duncan with 'Pets as Therapy' dog Maia and her owners Mr and Mrs Nicholl

A GREAT Wyrley vets inviting pet owners to the ballot box to raise money for two animal charities.

During National Pet Month, 387 Veterinary Centre, in Walsall Road, will donate 50p for every nomination placed in support of either the Cinnamon Trust and Pets as Therapy.

Owner Hamish Duncan said: "As well as responsible pet ownership, National Pet Month is about raising awareness of the benefits of working companion animals and helping to support animal charities.

"We thought it would be great to tell clients a bit more about The Cinnamon Trust and Pets as Therapy – two charities which place a massive emphasis on the benefits of people and pet companionship. Pet owners can then choose which charity they would like us to make a donation to on their behalf and we'll tot up the totals on May 6."

Practical

Set up in 1985, The Cinnamon Trust is the only specialist national charity for elderly people and their pets. It provides valuable practical day-to-day support as well as foster care if owners need to have a spell in hospital.

Long-term care is also provided for pets whose owners have died or moved into residential accommodation.

Hamish said: "We also wanted to raise awareness about Pets as Therapy. The charity provides therapeutic visits from pets to hospitals, hospices, nursing and care homes, special needs schools and other venues.

"One of our client's dogs, Maia, goes visiting the elderly at Pinfold House in Cheslyn Hay. Her visits are a real highlight and bring a great amount of pleasure."

During National Pet Month, clients can read about the two charities in displays at 387 Vets.

Company ban for director of failed furniture retailer

A FURNITURE store boss whose bust company left customers £100,000 out of pocket has been banned from running businesses for five years.

Stephen Dodd, boss at Cannock furniture retailer Brian James Holdings Ltd, paid himself more than £30,000 from its dwindling account.

The firm's director made the payment to himself in the six weeks before the firm went into receivership in March 2011.

He also paid £16,380 for vehicle hire charges and £6,898 to one of his friend's companies prior to attempting to pay back money owed.

The company was left with losses of more than £2.6 million, owing £1.4m to its bankers, £444,000 to trade suppliers and £99,000 in customer deposits for furniture that was never received.

Dodd, aged 66, of Lichfield, was banned from becoming a director or manager of limited companies until April 2018 by Secretary of State for Business, Innovation and Skills Vince Cable.

Debts

Brian James Holdings Limited, of Walsall Road, was founded in 1975 and traded from premises in Bridgtown where it employed 19 staff for 35 years.

The company began to have cashflow difficulties in 2009 and by February 2011 was unable to pay all its debts. An Insolvency Service investigation exposed Dodd's payments, which should not have been made until debts had been repaid.

After the firm's collapse, the company premises were bought by Smethwick-based furniture firm NCF, which relaunched as Brian James Furnishings in October 2011.

Villagers to be quizzed on parking

A PUBLIC consultation exercise will be launched to determine whether double yellow lines should be introduced along three streets in Cheslyn Hay.

Residents living in Landywood Lane, Leveson Avenue and Sutherland Road complained to the council about inconsiderate and dangerous parking.

Bosses at South Staffs District Council have discussed the matter and want to launch a consultation.

Speaking

Cheslyn Hay North Councillor Mike Boyle, a member of the joint parking committee, said: "We have agreed to go to consultation and will be speaking to residents soon.

"Enough of them will have to want restrictions in place for them to go ahead."

Single yellow lines with time restrictions are another possibility and could be introduced along the three streets.

Councillor Boyle said there was a general traffic problem in the village as its narrow roads were not designed to cope with the current volumes of traffic.

Glamour night aids Stephen's wish list

Norton Bathrooms MD Alison Mennell promotes the charity ball with Stephen Sutton, aged 18, from Burntwood

A BATHROOM company is to stage a charity ball in honour of a teenage cancer sufferer.

Inspired by the story of Stephen Sutton, Norton Bathrooms and Stafford Bathrooms are putting on a fundraiser for the Teenage Cancer Trust in the form of a glitzy ball at the Moat House, Acton Trussell, on May 24.

Stephen, aged 18, of Burntwood, has incurable cancer and has compiled a wish list of 46 things to do before he dies. He is also looking to raise £50,000 for the Teenage Cancer Trust.

Alison Mennell, managing director of the Norton Canes based company said: "When we heard about Stephen's story – as a business with lots of links – we knew that we were in a great position to help.

"I really wanted to understand how fundraising monies would be spent and decided to visit a Teenage Cancer Trust Unit to see why they are so special.

Treatments

"The units based at Birmingham Hospitals provide care for young people aged 16 to 24 diagnosed and undergoing tests and treatments for cancer, and are funded primarily by charitable donations. Each unit has a youth support co-ordinator who ensures that the young people, and indeed their families are supported practically, physically and emotionally during very difficult times."

All proceeds will be donated to The Teenage Cancer Trust Unit, where Stephen is currently receiving care and support during his illness.

"We are now appealing for further support for this event," added Alison.

Tickets are £35 and include a three course meal. They are available through Kim Girling at kim.girling@nortonbathrooms.co.uk

IN MY VIEW WITH MARK ANDREWS

COMMENTING on her latest wedding nuptials – the second in a month – model-turned-"businesswoman" Katie Price was quoted as saying: "This will be my last." For those of us who intently hang on to every one of her pearls of wisdom, these words are significant indeed.

At the same time, given that watershed announcement came at the end of a newspaper report, it begs the question of whether her sentence had been cut short.

And what she really said was: "This will be my last for this month."

❐❐❐❐❐❐

THE story about the 17-year-old who devised a smartphone app while revising for his exams, and then sold it to internet giant Yahoo for £20m, is fascinating and disturbing in equal measure.

Admittedly, part of my discomfort comes from the fact that I don't even know what a smartphone app is, let alone how to make £20m from one.

But if Nick D'Aloisio-Montilla is clever enough to persuade the great minds of Yahoo to part with such a sum of money, good luck to him. No doubt Young Nick celebrated his good fortune with scones all round and lashings of ginger beer, but will the money really bring him happiness?

For most youngsters on the brink of adulthood, life is a journey of discovery, an exciting time of new experiences, triumphs and failures. But having made so much money so young, it is hard to see how anything he achieves from now will seem like anything other than a disappointment.

And there is something not quite right about a 17-year-old who talks in terms of "3D rendering" and "product road maps".

It is a bit like the arguments about whether 16 and 17-year-olds should be given the right to vote. When I was 17, there were lots of things I was desperate to do, mostly involving cars and alcohol, although never together you understand, but I can't honestly say voting figured highly.

Any adolescent whose burning desire is to turn up at their local school and put a cross next to the name of their local councillor is surely reason enough to keep the voting age at 18.

AND if further proof was needed that we are turning into a nation of geeks, I could not believe my eyes by what I saw during a football match at the weekend.

No, not Aston Villa throwing away a promising lead with sloppy defending. It was the reaction of one home supporter when his side to took the lead on 31 minutes. While most of the Villa fans were jumping around cheering, the chap sitting next to us barely seemed to notice.

He sat resolutely in his seat tapping frantically away at his mobile phone. It just shows how becoming a slave to technology can sap out even the most basic of joys.

Michelle gets to work on one of her creations

A cake creation designed by Michelle Capewell

Michelle's creations are icing on the cake

As home baking enjoys a renaissance, Chronicle reporter CHARLOTTE LILLEY reports on a woman whose creations are selling like hot cakes

IT IS safe to say the nation has gone bonkers for baking. Whisks, mixing bowls and wooden spoons are flying off the shelves as families rediscover the joy of home cooking.

With the emergence of television programmes such as The Great British Bake Off and Paul Hollywood's Bread, more people than ever are perfecting their culinary skills.

One woman who is doing exactly that is Michelle Capewell from Huntington, who has set up a cake decorating business in her own home.

The 32-year-old mother-of-two of Willow Walk, has been baking since the age of 10 when her grandmother taught her how to make a variety of sweet treats.

Knowledge

"I have loved baking cakes for as long as I can remember. My nan used to let me make things with her in the kitchen and that is how I learned," says Michelle.

"She would let me help her stir and mix things and passed on some of her recipes to me, which I won't reveal because they are a family secret.

"My two daughters, Mia and Grace, have since started watching me bake and now join me in the kitchen too which is great because I can pass my knowledge onto them."

Michelle, a former assistant at Littleton Pre-school, took the plunge to set up Cape's Creations in her own kitchen after her daughters, aged two and four, started nursery.

With extra time on her hands, she got up to her elbows in caster sugar and began producing birthday cakes, cupcakes, fruit cakes and shortbread. But you won't find any soggy bottoms in this kitchen because Michelle has been practising her skills on members of her family and friends, and so far has received excellent feedback.

Michelle Capewell with her daughters Mia, centre, aged four and Grace, six

"I have made quite a few cakes for my friends and family and they all seem to like them which is a good sign. They have been very supportive," she says.

"Luckily baking just came naturally to me. I only took a couple of classes but for the most of it I taught myself. I have always been really creative and even used to make candles when I was younger, so I think my passion for making things is something that has always been in my blood.

"I think it would be great to have my own shop one day and people working with me. If the business takes off that is definitely something I would look into."

Department store John Lewis recently revealed sales of breadmakers have shot up 132 per cent since Paul Hollywood's show Bread aired last month.

Together with cake baker extraordinaire, Mary Berry, the "silver fox" has reinvigorated the interest in baking throughout the UK and now the nation is rolling up its sleeves in the hope of becoming the next Great British baker. So what does Michelle think of all this?

"These TV shows are great because they are encouraging people to discover a passion they might never have known they had," she says.

"I have started watching lots of cake-making programmes on TV for inspiration and absolutely love Choccy Woccy Doo Dah. I also watch Cake Boss and Ace of Cakes.

"I only recently started watching episodes of The Great British Bake Off and already I am enjoying it. It's great to see other people who enjoy baking just as much as I do.

In February, another mother-of-two used her love of baking to write a saucy novel all about cake.

Juggling

Anouska Knight, a baker from Rugeley, won Lorraine Kelly's 'Racy Reads' competition and signed a contract to publish her book with Mills and Boon.

The novel features a woman who runs her own cake shop and contains 'a few 'fruity bits.'

Like Anouska's book, Michelle's business is in its early stages but she is already taking orders via her Facebook page as well as juggling her family life. If that wasn't enough, she is also offering cake decorating parties and tea parties.

"Anyone who wants to learn how to decorate cakes can with my help. With the renewed interest in baking I am hoping lots of people will want to learn," says Michelle.

"To be honest, I don't know how I am going to juggle the business and the kids and everything else but I am just going to get on with it.

"My husband is very supportive of me. I know it isn't going to be easy but I am looking forward to the journey ahead."

For more information about Michelle's business or to order a cake visit her Facebook page 'Cape's Creations.'

Tycoon's former home sold for just under £2m

Fred Pritchard's Brocton Lodge home which has sold for just under £2m

Property tycoon Fred Pritchard

THE home of a troubled property firm boss has been sold for almost £2 million.

Brocton Lodge, the home for the past two decades of pritchard Group chairman Fred Pritchard, has been snapped up for around £1,995,000.

The Georgian country house, once a farmhouse and part of the Brocton Hall estate, has been bought through Savills Estate Agents by a private buyer with plans to use the Lodge as a residential property.

The sale comes after a raft of property owned by the Pritchard Group had to be sold off last year in bid to pay off the firm's £100 million debts. The 8,415 sq ft Brocton Lodge is approached through wrought iron electric gates and along a gravelled driveway with immediate access to the upland area of Cannock Chase.

Elegant

Thought to have been built as a 17th Century farm house, Brocton Lodge was once owned by the aristocratic and land owning family, the Chetwynd's.

Developed in 1812 by Sir George Chetwynd, as "an elegant modern mansion", the house was remodelled with a striking stucco façade, deep sash windows, and a Tuscan colonnade between flanking bays.

The house has since had a series of owners and tenants which have included Redvers Buller of the Zulu War Campaigns, the Thorneycroft family of the Vosper Thorneycroft company and Colonel Guy German, one of the great Second World War escapees from prisoner of war camp Colditz.

Brocton Hall boasts 10 bedrooms, a reception hall, a drawing room, dining room, sitting room, billiard room, kitchen, study, garden room, butlers' pantry, servants hall and cellars.

A former stable has been converted to a pool room with wave pool, sauna, shower room and French windows opening to a sheltered paved seating area.

Ivy House campaign fantastic response

WE would like to thank all those supporters of the campaign to keep the Ivy House in Cannock.

The response was fantastic, considering the time of year and the weather conditions. At the moment we have a stay of execution but do not know what the revised plans will hold.

We can only hope that common sense will prevail and that the 143-year-old building will receive the care and attention it deserves.

Cannock has lost so much of its history that we should be making every effort to retain something for future generations.

We believe that in 1990 when the estate of Oakwoods and Ivy Close was built, this was a definite consideration, and the pavilion was kept in place. Fast forward 20 years and the same argument applies.

Ways to keep country on its feet

WITH the return of the cold weather it was headline news that there could be a shortage of fuel here in the UK and power cuts are a possibility.

So how can a developed nation like ours come to be in such a predicament? We all know gas and oil deposits surrounding our island are dwindling so we are relying on expensive imports. So what other options do we have?

Mention the world nuclear power and protesters are up in arms about the safety of the reactors and we are reminded of what happened in Japan a few years ago. Do we have tsunamis in this country?

Campaigners against in-shore wind farms reckon they're not a viable option.Thanks to the environmentalists the double f word (fossil fuel) is a definite no-no as we have to reach a certain target set by the EU to reduce our pollutants into the atmosphere. Drax power station is diverting from burning coal to burning wood which is being imported from Canada. How is that process going to be cost effective?

We have millions of tons of coal beneath our feet and I'm sure with some serious research and development and the right investment a cleaner way of burning the black stuff could be established and help to keep this country on its feet.

Thanks to pub over flicker of humanity

THROUGH your letters page we would just like to highlight a flicker of humanity for folks in despair at the often uncaring, unhelpful, disrespectful society we all sometimes feel we live in.

While walking our dogs at Pye Green valley we lost our car keys. With everything locked in the car, feeling very cold, despite being attired for dog walking in the snow, and faced with a wait for a locksmith to attend, we went across to the Bridge pub in Hightown and asked if we could wait in there with our dogs.

The staff kindly let us bring the dogs in and we warmed up with a cup of coffee, while the dogs had lots of fuss from staff and customers. In the bigger picture of things it was a relatively minor incident but it shows that people are still kind and helpful and empathise with folks who find themselves in a predicament. Thank you all and hope to visit again in better circumstances and suitably attired.

Upset at cattery fire

I WAS so upset in January to read of the fire at Pinetrees Cattery in Huntington, resulting in the death of 22 much-loved cats. I feel very strongly that all catteries and kennels should have fully working, wired-in, smoke detectors, fire alarms, and even CCTV cameras before being issued with a licence.

So are we all in this together?

I AM 61-years-old and unemployed, being increasingly annoyed by Lib-Dem/Tory attempts to divide and rule the disabled/non-workers and the workers.

This is typified by the Chancellor's remarks during the budget speech and the Tory reference to the "aspirational" – a change to the description of "strivers" and "skivers". Not everyone is able to be in work, even if they can find a job.

By all accounts, in the past year the banks have paid out £13bn in bonuses and yet we have food banks opening to cope with rising hunger and poverty.

As welcome a relief food banks are, isn't it an indictment of the government's policies that in the sixth richest country in the world, we need food banks?

I'm sure the voters have sense to see through the crude ploy of the Tories and the cabinet of millionaires that we are all in this together.

Staff are worthy of a fight to the end

RE: Janos Toth's letter (March 28). Am I wrong in believing that it was Tony Blair who pushed for hospitals to become Foundation Trusts – the real cause of Stafford's problems when patients and staff were sacrificed to raise the ten million needed to qualify for such status?

It is under the present government and because of Julie Bailey and her supporters that the whole tragedy of so many unnecessary deaths has been highlighted.

We must keep our hospital. It serves us well. The staff are worthy of a fight to the end and it is our way of remembering the hard work that Ethel Powell and her League of Friends put in to get it. It was because of her efforts that we have an MRI scanner and other pieces of equipment.

Debt of gratitude to NHS campaigner

I WOULD be a rich man, if I had a pound for every time someone had said "but what can you do about it" over issues that we weren't happy about?

Then along came Julie Bailey. This courageous lady, motivated by the poor treatment and sad loss of her mother, in Stafford Hospital, launched a campaign to expose what was going on, "behind the scenes", at this NHS establishment, convinced, that many things were wrong and that "a screen of deceit" was in situ, in order to cover up what was wrong.

We all owe this lady a massive vote of thanks for what she and her fellow campaigners uncovered.

No porkies – scratchings are making a comeback

A RUGELEY firm is leading the renaissance of the humble snack food – pork scratchings.

This region is the epicentre of the industry – worth around £30 million a year in the UK.

And, at RayGray Snacks in Rugeley, managing director Graham Jebb says the snacks are enjoying a resurgence in popularity, as demonstrated through the launch of his designer version of the delicacy – Mr Trotter's.

The father-of-two, who lives in Telford, said: "Scratchings are having a major resurgence. The business was a level playing field but now people might not be able to go out and buy a meal, they want a treat. And we're tying to bring them to a wider audience."

He added: "There is something of a pork scratching revival with many celebrities proclaiming their love for them - Chris Evans, Cameron Diaz, Al Murray and Kate Moss among others."

Familiar

RayGray Snacks now employs 22 staff and its profits have grown every year since its beginnings 17 years ago.

The business produces three types of the snack, from the hard scratching most familiar to the West Midlands and Staffordshire, to the puffy, dry Pork Crunch more common in America and the softer version of the fatty rind, Mr Trotter's which is now 15 months off the production line.

It is already being stocked in Selfridges, Fortnum & Mason, Harvey Nicholls, John Lewis and the Chatsworth House farm shop.

Scott Guthrie, spokesman for Midlands Snacks, which makes pork scratchings and has 30 staff in Wolverhampton, said his firm sold 600 tonnes of pork scratchings every year across the UK including to pubs, supermarkets and butchers.

Cloudy2Clear Windows – Service With A Smile!

It's been a crazy few months for Cloudy2Clear Windows. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has grown rapidly as homeowners take advantage of their services.

Managing Director Brian Stanley feels that it's all about service. 'Our product is simple. If your double glazing is misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 5 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps. Many tradespeople have struggled since last year and I honestly feel that during the good times a minority perhaps didn't focus on customer care as much as they should have done.

We make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle. I often get comments back from customers on how they really didn't expect that sort of service which, in a way, is very sad for the service industry as a whole.'

Cloudy2Clear service Cannock and the surrounding area and Brian is finding that his approach is a major factor in his success. 'The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated.'

So, if your windows are steamed up, broken or damaged give Brian a call for a free quotation on 0800 61 21 118 and he'll be happy to help!

Father and daughter exhibit artwork

Roxanne Gooderham and dad Paul, from Gailey Pottery, who are exhibiting their work at Shugborough Hall

A FATHER and daughter are showcasing their work at an exhibition – the first time they have exhibited together.

Artist Roxanne Gooderham and Penkridge ceramicist Paul Gooderham are displaying their pieces at the Staffordshire Enjoy Art Spring exhibition at Shugborough Hall. It opened last Saturday and runs until April 13 in Lord Lichfield's private cinema inside the Mansion House.

Mr Gooderham, aged 62, has been a potter for 35 years while his 28-year-old daughter is a fine-art drawer and painter. Mr Gooderham, who studied at Wolverhampton Art College, is based at the Gailey Pottery in the Old Church Studios in Penkridge. His daughter studied Fine Art at Birmingham School of Art and Design and specialises in equine sketches.

Taking flight for longer

A MODEL aircraft club based has been given permission to fly planes for longer during the week and weekends.

Members of the Lower Drayton Flyers, near Penkridge, applied for an extension for flying their internal combustion planes which are louder than the electric ones they also use on site.

South Staffs District Council approved the plans, which means the group can fly model aircraft between 10am and 4pm on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday, from 10am-7pm on Wednesdays and on Saturdays from 10am-6pm. On Sundays and Bank Holidays they can fly between 10am and midday.

Weekends

Regulatory committee members said the club could only have three IC planes in the sky at any one time.

Club chairman Jeff Orchard, said members who worked during the week would now be able to fly their planes for longer during the weekends, adding: "We are thrilled to bits that the plans have gone through."

The club has been flying planes for the past five years, with up to 50 people using the farm each week.

Mr Orchard said the club was looking to attract younger members.

"We are open to everyone but we're giving free membership to youngsters up to the age of 16. We want to encourage more youngsters into the club."

Sailing again as water levels rise at reservoir

A SAILING club is to hold its first open day in three years at a reservoir that had to be drained of water amid fears over safety.

The water levels at Chasewater Reservoir have now returned to normal. And Chase Sailing Club will be holding its open event on May 6.

The club's Rob Slack said: "We've not held an open day for three years so we need to make sure everything goes to plan.

"It will be nice to get out onto the water again. We haven't been able to sail on it since 2010 because it was too low."

The club is also hosting The Chase Challenge on May 4, inviting other sailing clubs to take part. There will be three races on the day and around 50 boats involved.

Chase Sailing Club is based at the 222-acre reservoir at Chasewater Country Park.

The reservoir was drained of water in 2010 after a crisis report by Lichfield District Council said flooding could lead to 2,000 homes being wiped out, killing 80 people and causing £105 million damage.

More than a billion gallons of water was drained from the reservoir, off Pool Road. Water levels rose dramatically after heavy rain last summer.

Pair pampering pets

Jamie Leigh Prince and mother Jacqui Butler in Lansbury Drive, Cannock at the launch of heir dog grooming business Starbarks

A FORMER baby beauty queen and her mother have launched their own pooch pampering service to meet the needs of Cannock's dog owners.

Cannock's Bouncing Baby of 1990, Jamie Leigh Prince, aged 23, set up the fledgling business Starbarks with her mum Jacqui Butler.

The 45-year-old mother-of-three, of Lansbury Drive, said: "We are both fully trained hairdressers but we prefer dogs, you don't get any back chat from animals."

With the help of Jacqui's husband Allan, they converted a large garden shed in their back garden into a fully equipped pet salon and hope to expand the business in the future. Call 07716414297 or 01543577306 for more details.

Drug den found by undercover police

UNDERCOVER police helped identify a suspected drugs den in Hednesford, Stafford Crown Court heard. Officers arrested brothers Richard and Jamie Gardner, of Green Heath Road, and Claire Plant, of Bank Street, Heath Hayes at the flat in high Street on July 1 last year.

Heroin worth around £35, a needle and £180 in cash was seized. All three admitted being concerned in the supply of heroin.

Richard Gardner, aged 30, was given a 14 month sentence suspended for 20 months; Jamie Gardner, 24, got 12 months suspended for two years. Plant, 38, must carry out 100 hours unpaid community work.

Hunt for Good Samaritan who returned lost purse

A CANNOCK man was left 'dumbfounded' when a Good Samaritan turned up at his door to return his girlfriend's lost purse.

Gary Read and Nicole Hill are now looking to thank the kind-hearted stranger.

Nicole, of Johnson Road, Cannock, had realised her purse was missing while at tills at Morrisons. It contained £100 in cash, her driving licence and a variety of gift vouchers – but most importantly a photograph of she and Gary together when they first met at the age of 13.

Later that same day, on Saturday, the stranger appeared at her door, having sought out Miss Hill's address, and handed over her wallet complete with all its contents.

Kindness

Gary, left dumbfounded, merely shook the man's hand and thanked him before the Good Samaritan returned to his car and drove away. The couple, touched by this act of kindness, are now appealing for the man to come forward so they can thank him properly.

Gary, a software manager, aged 37, said: "My girlfriend was out shopping in Cannock with her mum, obviously having lost her wallet somewhere.

"It wasn't until she went to buy something from Morrisons when she realised and the panic set in.

"Meanwhile, a man turned up at our door asking if Nicole Hill lived here. When I said yes, he handed over her wallet. At the time all I could think to do was thank him and shake his hand. It wasn't until afterwards that I thought 'this just doesn't happen'.

"I'd like to know who this man is, as I'd definitely like to buy him a bottle of Champagne to say thank you properly."

Nicole, also 37, is originally from Canada and first met Mr Read when she was on holiday in England on a coach trip to Blackpool. Six months ago she managed to get hold of some pictures of the two of them taken shortly afterwards, which she then kept in her wallet. It also contained Miss Hill's expired Canadian bank card and driving licence — which she would need for renewal.

"I can't even imagine how I would have felt if I'd have lost it," said Nicole, a finance assistant. "That's the first time I've carried so much money around with me.

"There was absolutely everything in there. I would have been devastated had I lost those pictures. Thank you simply isn't enough."

Family occasion as couple mark 60 years

Diamond wedding couple Derek and Delphina Johnson

IF IT was not for a sick colleague Derek Johnson may never have met the woman who would be his wife for 60 years.

Mr Johnson, now aged 86, was working for the gas board and was sent to collect money from the utility meters around Cannock Chase after a fellow worker became ill.

On his first shift he called in at the gas showroom in Chasetown where he was greeted by Delphina.

As the rain poured he offered the young lady a lift home in his van and more than six decades later they are celebrating their diamond wedding anniversary. The couple, of Exeter Road, Cannock, got married three years after meeting on March 28, 1953 at St Anne's church.

Mr Johnson went on to work for the Midland Electricity Board while Mrs Johnson, now 80, worked in the grocery department of Stars News in Wolverhampton.

The couple have two children, six grandchildren and three great-grandchildren. A family gathering with nearly 40 guests marked their milestone.

Ice road speeders caught

DOZENS of drivers were caught speeding in Cannock during a police crackdown – despite dangerous conditions on the roads.

Officers braved freezing temperatures to head out armed with mobile speed detection devices in three areas over a four-hour period, catching a total of 39 motorists.

Targeted areas were Green Heath Road, Cannock Wood Street and New Penkridge Road, where residents have highlighted problems with speeding. One driver was caught 42mph in a 30mph zone in Green Heath Road, near West Hill Primary School, despite the snow and ice.

Treacherous

Cannock Police Chief Inspector Carl Ratcliffe said he was 'extremely disappointed' for so many drivers to be speeding in treacherous conditions.

"If you are driving in this weather not only do you have to be aware of your own safety, but you also need to be prepared that stopping distances are going to be longer, your visibility is reduced and because of snow drifts, be aware that pedestrians may cross the road at different places to where you may normally expect," he said.

"The highest speed we recorded was someone doing 42 mph in a 30 zone – and that was near a school.

"I found it really astounding that people were prepared to drive way above the speed limit in residential areas and schools in this weather."

Chief Insp Ratcliffe said officers would be carrying out more speed tests across the district in coming weeks.

Easter egg hunt round park a real cracker

YOUNGSTERS had a cracking time as they took part in a giant Easter egg hunt around Hednesford Park.

Chase Eyecare, which has branches in Hednesford and Cannock, joined forces with the Friends of Hednesford Park to organise The Giant Neighbourhood Easter Egg Hunt on Saturday morning (March 30).

Around 140 children turned up and enjoyed the hunt which took them around Hednesford Park. They had to follow clues which were all linked to the Easter theme.

Tesco, Gnarly Cycles, Hednesford Carpets and SOS Hairdressing had donated 278 Easter eggs for the hunt and each child who took part was given one. Those left over will be donated to the Cannock & District Food Bank

Jackie Murphy, Chase Eyecare manager, said: "The children had a wonderful time. We were delighted to do our part and join forces with other businesses and the Friends of Hednesford Park to stage this event for local children."

Friends chairman Lynn Evans said: "It was great to see so many children turn up. The feedback we got from them was just brilliant – they all said what a fun time they had.

Clean-up order ignored

THE owner of an ivy-covered house which is ruining the outlook of a Rugeley cul-de-sac could face a daily fine after failing to comply with a court's tidy-up order.

Kenneth Mould was given 28 days to remove the ivy which obliterates the front of his house in Swallow Close when he appeared before magistrates.

He was also told to remove other vegetation from his front and back gardens because they had grown wild and spoilt the appearance of the neighbourhood. Mould did not appear at the Stafford Magistrates' Court hearing on February 6. He paid the £1,000 fine and £300 costs imposed, but has carried out none of the work at his property within the allotted period.

Dominated

Cannock Chase Council's enforcement officer visited the site to check whether he had complied with the notice.

They found the roof and first-floor windows of the three-bedroomed semi still totally hidden under a thick covering of ivy while the front garden remains dominated by several large coniferous trees and a bush grows out of the garage roof at the back.

The authority is now considering its next step.

Development control manager Mazer Aqbal said the court could fine the householder on a daily basis until he carried out the remedial work.

Mr Aqbal said: "We could go back to the magistrates court and make a request for a daily fine to be imposed on the owner until the necessary works are completed.

"The magistrates would decide whether or not to impose a fine and at what level."

Graffiti artist answers SOS to brighten up salon

SOS hairdressing salon owner Simon Orme, front, with artist David Ruston who has decorated one of the walls

A SALON in Hednesford swapped hairspray for spray paint when it invited a graffiti artist to brighten up its interior.

Dave Rushton's mural now covers an entire wall inside SOS Hairdressing, on Market Street.

Owner Simon Orme, aged 47, said: "The wall was originally covered in photos, which people liked, so I wanted to keep something that would generate as much interest. I thought, 'What better way than to ask Dave?' I just told him to do whatever he liked. I wanted him to have free rein.

"When he started I thought, 'What is going on?' But as it progressed it began to look really good.

Superb

"It's absolutely fantastic and the customers coming in think it's superb.

"I like it so much I'm thinking of having the rest of the salon done in different colours."

The artist, who is also a tattooist at Inksane Tattoos, on Station Road, painted his piece depicting a woman's face alongside the company name as part of a £4,000 refurbishment of the two-floor premises.

Mr Rushton, aged, 35, who also painted artwork in the village's Woody's Music Bar, said: "It took me about eight hours from start to finish.

"I tried to do something new with it. I normally do portraits but I tried a bit of modern art. The whole idea was for a feature wall that stands out and gets people talking."

It's lucky for some

Mackenzie Burnett, aged five, and Lottie Hanaford four celebrate the 13th birthday of the Play Days after-school club fellow St Peter's Primary School pupils

YOUNGSTERS and staff from an after-school club in Hednesford have been celebrating 13 years of success.

Play Days at St Peter's Primary School in Reservoir Road, Hednesford was set up by Julie Wright in 2000. It has since become one of the town's biggest after-school clubs with more than 70 children attending each week and many more during the school holidays.

To celebrate, youngsters tucked into a special cake and took part in activities including party games with prizes.

For more about Play Days contact Julie on 07903 838911 or e-mail julie_d_wright@hotmail.com

'Yes' to extra classrooms

PLANS to build two new classrooms at a Heath Hayes school have been approved. Cannock Chase Council has given the thumbs up for a temporary building to house two classroom on the playground at Five Ways Primary, in Langholm Drive. Two new members of staff will also be employed to deal with the rise in pupil numbers. It currently has 667 pupils on roll. By September that will rise to 696.

Sponsorship plea as child star to join stage school

A CHILD star from Cannock is following in some famous footsteps by winning a scholarship to a prestigious stage school.

Eleven-year-old Ben Wilby will join illustrious alumni including Titanic actress Kate Winslet, EastEnders star Lucy Benjamin and Tracy Beaker's Dani Harmer when he takes up his place at Berkshire's Redroofs Theatre School.

The youngster has been given a full four year pass to the school worth around £60,000. However his family will still need to find £200 a week and mother Jill is appealing for help.

Child star Ben Wilby

Mrs Wilby said: "We are so excited about it. He fought off hundreds of others to be given the scholarship, the only full one they are giving this year. I'm sad he will be going to boarding school but he will do brilliantly.

"My only concern is we need to find £200 a week for him to stay there, so I am appealing for businesses to come forward and help sponsor him," Jill added.

"It is through the Harlequin Trust Fund, which Ben is also going to be the face of, and people can get tax relief for sponsoring him."

Ben shot to fame after starring in the hit 2009 comedy Nativity! and took up the role of Bob for the sequel Nativity 2: Danger in the Manger last year.

To help sponsor Ben, visit www.redroofs.co.uk or call Jill on 07809 591588.

Birthday luncheon enjoyed

CANNOCK CHASE LADIES PROBUS CLUB

THE club celebrated its 26th birthday lunch at the Barns Restaurant, Cannock on March 28.

Chairman Pat Preece, welcomed all the ladies and thanked them for attending this special occasion in view of the terribly cold weather. She then led the club in singing "Happy Birthday" which was well received.

A special Grace was said by Mrs Preece followed by an enjoyable luncheon and Fellowship.

Club member Angela Reid made and iced a magnificent cake which was photographed surrounded by several founder members, along with Mrs Preece. The cake was distributed to all the ladies present.

The entertainment for the birthday luncheon was provided by Sian Forbes who thrilled the ladies with a medley of songs from the shows.

The vote of thanks was given by Eileen Cryer who told Sian that her lovely voice and choice of songs had really "put the icing on the cake" for everyone.

Mrs Preece brought this happy occasion to a close and wished everyone a safe journey home.

The club meets on the last Thursday of each month at the Barns Restaurant. For membership enquiries, call secretary Norma Hutchinson on 01543 505183.

Club has bottle for wine tasting event

Lichfield Rotary Club members David Mays and Mike Maybury enjoy the wine tasting

LICHFIELD ROTARY CLUB

A MOTLEY crew of oenologists gathered at the Guildhall towards the end of March and were treated to an excellent selection of wines by the club's resident sommelier and his able assistant.

Everyone attending enjoyed the evening including the non-drinkers, otherwise known as drivers and the evening raised £200 for Rotary charities.

Congratulations to the club's talented quiz team who beat the Rotary Club of Sutton Vesey but narrowly lost out in the quarter finals 29-27 to Edgbaston Convention Rotary Club.

Meanwhile, Bader Hall was full on March 27 when Simon James ran the Lichfield club's annual fundraising quiz.

Early indications are that as much as £1,300 was raised.

CANNOCK ROUND TABLE

CANNOCK Chase Round Table is on a mission to create the ultimate finishing school for men and is asking for suggestions on things every man should know.

Once, the rules of manhood were straightforward but in the 85 years since the Round Table was established things have become a lot more complicated. In order to produce its authoritative finishing school guide, Round Table is looking for residents to come to the aid of today's modern man. The organisation is looking for ideas on what are essential man skills. People with tips or ideas of things that should – or should not – be included should email communications@roundtable.org.uk

A PENKRIDGE man has retired from the engineering firm he co-founded after 25 years of service.

After launching Fourmasters Ltd in 1988 Graham Powell and Peter Spittle both retired on the same day last week.

They started the company from scratch and had run it ever since as owners but have now passed the company on to enjoy their retirement.

Fourmasters, on Stafford Road in Fordhouses, produces press tools, jigs, fixtures and pressings, mostly supplying to the automotive industry.

Finish

Mr Powell said there had been some tough times over the years but that he would miss the many familiar faces he had worked with on a daily basis for so decades.

"It's a nice day to finish but I shall miss the day-to-day contact," he said.

"We've seen a lot of changes and I certainly won't miss the red tape and the paperwork."

The pair hosted an open day last week to invite current and old colleagues to say their goodbyes.

Mr Powell added: "It's been a really nice day and it's been lovely to see everyone. Pete and I haven't got anything specific planned, but he likes his fishing and I do a lot of swimming and cycling so I'm sure we'll keep busy."

The new man at the helm Mark Cox will run the company as sole owner.

Families check out Easter chicks

FAMILIES flocked to South Staffordshire College's Rodbaston campus near Penkridge to check out some baby chicks and rabbits over the Easter weekend. Youngsters got the chance to hold the animals and learn all about how to care for them. It followed a trio of lambing weekends when hundreds flocked to get the chance to bottle-feed the newborn animals. Among those attending were Michael Ashe and Stacey Exall from Cannock with their daughters Lily-May, six and Lexie five. They are picturedwith volunteer Laura Perry and Animal Zone manager David Riley

Pothole repairs backlog

MORE than 300 potholes are being repaired weekly in Staffordshire to catch up with a backlog caused by the recent cold snap.

The county council has invested a further £500,000 into improving roads hit by the weather. Before the Easter weekend crews repaired more than 60 potholes in one day with among those toads tackled including Wolverhampton Road, Cannock and Rugeley Road, Burntwood. More than 4,000 potholes were reported, compared with about 2,800 at this time in 2012.

Meanwhile, it has emerged that pothole repairs were needed on the M6 at an average of more than 20 times a month last year.

Fixed

There were 254 occasions that urgent works was necessary on the busy stretch between junction seven at Great Barr and 14 at Stafford North.

The potholes needed to be fixed between January 1 and December 31 last year, statistics released through the Highways Agency have revealed.

The hotspot areas included around junction 10 at Walsall and between 12 at Cannock and 13 at Stafford.

Highways bosses insist work is carried out to keep traffic flowing.

Highways Agency spokesman Abbas Abdulla said: "We are confident the regime for identifying such defects on the M6, and the resources for undertaking such repairs is sufficient to keep England's motorways in a safe and serviceable condition."

Council tax freeze is party's pledge

Ian Austin MP in Hednesford with Cannock Chase Council leader George Adamson, Staffordshire County Council's Labour leader Derek Davis and Cannock Chase councillors Bob and Diane Todd

SHADOW minister Ian Austin met with political candidates and activists in Hednesford to pledge that Labour would freeze council tax across Staffordshire until at least 2015.

The Labour MP also vowed that the party would create apprenticeships for graduates and the long-term unemployed, protect NHS services, provide free school meals for all children in the county and "properly" repair potholes.

The pledge launch took place under the clock tower on Anglesey Square ahead of county council elections on May 2. Mr Austin said: "A Labour-run county council will deliver for the people of Staffordshire. Labour's top pledges are to freeze the council tax until at least 2015 and create apprenticeships.

"They are just the sort of practical measures that will help hard working families and get the local economy moving.

"Staffordshire Labour have made freezing council tax until at least 2015 their number one pledge.

Staffordshire Labour plans to deliver pledge cards outlining its proposals to more than 150,000 households across the county during the coming weeks.

Tyre depot homes plan

A FORMER tyre depot which attracts anti-social behaviour could be pulled down and replaced with 10 new homes.

Six two-bedroom and four three-bedroom houses are included in the proposals for Mill Street in Cannock.

The plans were being heard by Cannock Chase Council's planning committee yesterday (Wednesday) and were being recommended for approval.

The scheme includes two terraces of two-storey homes with front and back gardens. A car park with 17 spaces will also be created.

Positive

A report to the planning committee states: "The site is derelict, unattractive and has been the source of anti-social behaviour.

The redevelopment of the site for housing would make a substantial positive contribution to the amenity of neighbours and the wider area."

Applicant Craig & Watts Holdings Limited, were being asked to hand over money to improve the surrounding area as part of a Section 106 agreement.

The council has asked for £13,722 to spend on improving open space, sport and recreation facilities, as well as a further £16,380 for indoor sports facilities.

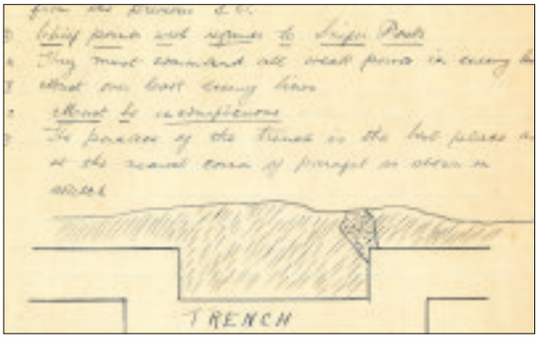
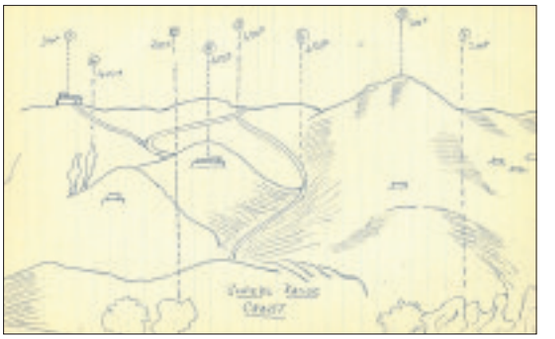
A Sniperscope was used as a periscope and mounted on top of a rifle



This illustration of a sniper post was included in the documents



A sniper range chart was among the military papers belonging to Sgt Wood

Sgt Wood's son John with a picture of his father

Sniper's handbook gives a blow-by-blow account

A BLOW-by-blow account of how a sniper was trained to kill and survive during the First World War has been unearthed among a former Chase soldier's papers.

by Kirsten Rawlins

They form part of the military manual owned by Sgt Arthur Joseph Wood who went to Sniping School in Rugeley as a member of the 11th North Staffordshire Regiment after enlisting at Stone in 1914.

He trained on the Cannock Chase before being sent overseas to France. There, he was eventually wounded by a collapsed trench, which is thought to have possibly contributed to his death from stomach complications aged 47.

The papers, now in the hands of the Staffordshire Record Office, contain a variety of instructions, as well as personal annotations and drawings. One is a diagram of a 'Sniperscope', which was used as a periscope and would be mounted on top of a normal rifle with the support of steel bars.

The documents also list a series of qualities which a sniper must possess. It states he must be 'patient', 'truthful' and 'shoot to kill' while keeping both eyes open. It instructs its owner to 'keep rifle and telescopes clean' and to 'know the range of every object within distance'.

The manual also gives a list of instructions as to how a sniper should stand while 'loading'.

The manual was handed over by Sgt Wood's son John Wood, aged 86, who was a member of the Territorial Army for 12 years.

Mr Wood, of Longdon Road, Stone, was just 13 when his father died. The retired plumber, said: "I remember the papers from when I was a kid, because I used to write on them with pencils and things. When I handed them over to the record office, they were really quite shocked as historically, they're very valuable documents.

After the Great War, father-of-three Sgt Wood returned to his job as a painter and decorator before becoming an air raid warden in Stone in the Second World War.

Janene Cox, Staffordshire County Council's commissioner for tourism, said: "This small set of documents relating to the training of snipers in the Great War on Cannock Chase is a unique survival.

"These papers have been carefully looked after by Mr Wood's son.

"He has now entrusted them to the Staffordshire Record Office to add to their collections and to ensure that this chapter in our nation's history remains preserved for future generations."

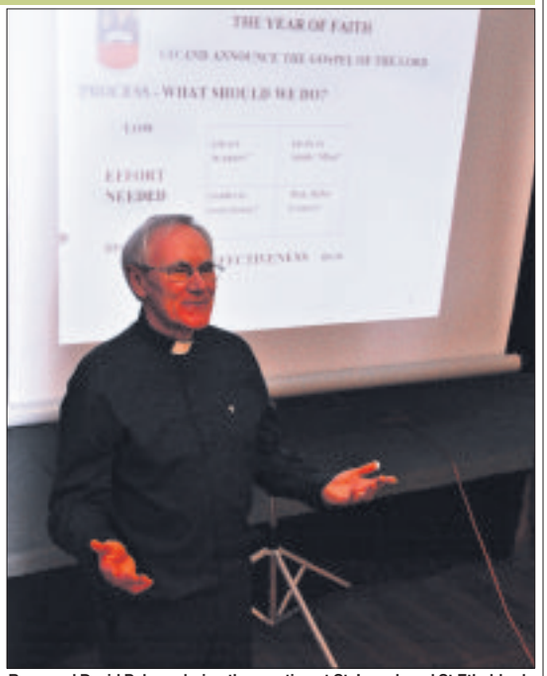
Have faith is call from cleric with a mission

FINANCE guru and clergyman David Palmer is on a mission: to save us from a Godless world.

Mr Palmer has been travelling the Midlands on a recruitment drive for Catholicism during the church's Year of Faith, as polls show fewer of us are putting our trust in religion.

At the community centre beside St Joseph and St Etheldreda church in Rugeley, the reverend, an ordained deacon with the Catholic Church, set up the tools of his trade – a laptop and a projector.

From the moment he began talking he had the room's attention. His warm, cockney voice is captivating. Even addressing a crowd, he makes you feel like the most important person in the room.



Reverend David Palmer during the meeting at St Joseph and St Etheldreda

Leaflets

It made perfect sense to learn that Mr Palmer's training is in marketing. His presentation drew heavily on techniques from his day job, running a training course in finance.

Delivering leaflets to every home in your neighbourhood gets you no bang for your buck, he explained, but simply inviting people to your Christian wedding may draw them back to church. This was a workshop to discuss tactics, a battle plan for evangelicals on the ground.

Mr Palmer told the meeting: "As Christians we should be sharing our faith. This isn't an optional extra. Every single person has the duty and the right to evangelise."

His efforts come as figures show that every Sunday our churches sit emptier than the last. A "crisis of faith" is said to have swept our country.

The last census found that the number of Britons who self-identify as Christians plummeted to just 59.3 per cent in 2011, down from 71.7 per cent a decade earlier.

Concern

Meanwhile, the number professing 'no religion' climbed from 14.8 to 25.1 per cent.

For many, this is an alarming concern. They fear a Godless Britain would be without morals, spirituality and a strong sense of community. Some have taken it upon themselves to tackle the problem.

Mr Palmer claims to have reached up to 600 people through his workshops.

Speaking after the meeting, Mr Palmer said: "Fewer people are going to church but I don't think there is a crisis of faith.

"Worldwide, the number of Catholics is growing dramatically.

"I actually just feel sorry for atheists. I don't know how they cope with death.

"If there's no God, what's it all about?"

Business advice as traders discuss networking ideas

MORE than 30 business owners in Penkridge attended a networking event to promote their companies.

Penkridge Business Association organised the event at Mercure Hotel on Pinfold Lane. Traders were given advice on how to market themselves and gain support in their ventures to boost trade.

by Marisha Cysewski

Anne Geoghegan, who chaired the event, said: "The meeting was a good opportunity for sole traders to see the support there is for them in the community and enabled them to come together to share ideas.

"There are currently no empty shops in the village and we want to keep it that way.

Guidance

"These local businesses offer a personal service to their customers and I hope that residents will continue to support them."

Pet shop owners, market traders and a building consultant were just some of the people who attended the meeting and representatives from trading standards and The Best of Stafford made presentations and gave guidance to businesses owners.

Owner of Teddesley Boat Company, Linda Millward, said: "We are a small community who are working hard so we don't get many chances to meet each other."

She added: "This has been a good opportunity for us all to mix and get some great advice."

The meeting was organised after association members decided they wanted to get people to shop more locally.

Traders now hope to make it an annual event.

The group's treasurer Paul Caley, said: "In the current climate it is difficult for small businesses to survive, so we want to show residents in Penkridge exactly what is available right here in the village."

The group's telephone directory, which lists the names and numbers of independent businesses, will be distributed to homes later this month in a bid to gain even more business within the village.

Alan and Jackie Pugh, celebrate their first year in business at Alan's Pets, Penkridge

Bruno's a knockout at pet shop

A PENKRIDGE pet shop which has a Staffordshire Bull Terrier as its mascot is celebrating its first year in business.

Alan's of Penkridge first opened its doors in May last year after owner Alan Pugh was made redundant.

But after an exciting year, Mr Pugh and his pet pooch Bruno are looking forward to the years ahead.

He said: "It is really difficult to set up a business in the current climate but after being made redundant I decided to take the plunge.

"I take Bruno to work with me and the customers love him."

Mr Pugh runs the shop with his wife and said they will celebrate the milestone with cakes and biscuits.

He added: "We are currently organising a day in May when we will hold a small gathering. There will be coffee tea and cakes and of course Bruno will be there to welcome everyone."

Youngsters are invited on a creepy crawly hunt

YOUNGSTERS can hunt and explore creepy crawlies at a bug hunt in Penkridge next week.

Penkridge Leisure Centre on Cannock Road is hosting the Mini-beast mania bug hunt and children aged from five-to-12 will be able to get up close and personal with some exotic creatures.

Natural World Experience instructor Paul Taylor will be on hand to teach visitors about tarantulas, stick insects, giant snails, cockroaches, snakes and lizards on Tuesday (April 9) from 1pm.

A bug hunt will be held in the leisure centre grounds afterwards.

Sessions cost £4.20 per child.

Activity day at village school

YOUNGSTERS are invited to take part in a day of activities to relieve the holiday boredom in Penkridge next week.

St Michael's School on Market Place will host an Easter holiday club on Thursday, April 11 from 10am until 12.30pm.

Crafts, games and songs will be on offer and donations towards expenses are welcome.

Delight as sales are on the up at market

PENKRIDGE Market has announced that despite the cold weather and a fall in visitors, sales figures are up on last year.

Traders dressed up for Easter and collected £225 for Midlands Air Ambulance and manager, Matt Williams said Monday was the busiest bank holiday the market had seen in years.

"We were extremely pleased and very grateful to our customers and traders for braving the cold weather," he said.

"We did think the bitterly cold weather may put people off, so it was fantastic to see the market so busy and that it was one of our busiest markets to date."

The next bank holiday market, which will also include a car boot sale, will be held on Monday May 6.

Report offers nursery praise

FOOD hygiene inspectors have delivered a glowing report on a Penkridge nursery.

Little Treasures Day Nursery on Boscomoor Lane achieved top marks in its latest inspection from South Staffordshire Council.

The report found the premises to be "well above average for this type of business" and congratulated it on its high standards.

Light at the end of economic tunnel

THERE is light at the end of the tunnel for business, it has been claimed, as companies in Cannock Chase report improved confidence on the domestic front.

Companies are seeing sales in the UK market on the rise, along with advance orders, according to the latest economic survey from the Birmingham Chamber of Commerce Group. Firms in the service sector have a rise in sales and orders, but manufacturers are still waiting for a breakthrough, with sales down both at home and abroad.

Skills, however, remain a key issue. Despite higher unemployment figures, 41 per cent of service businesses reported that they faced difficulties when recruiting professional or managerial staff.

Drivers face delays as roadworks set to start

MOTORISTS are warned to expect delays as a major roadworks scheme gets under way later this month.

As part of the project a roundabout is being constructed at the entrance to a new private cemetery on the A461 Walsall Road, near the busy Muckley Corner junction.

Work in and around the Springhill Cemetery site began at the beginning of January. However the main infrastructure – including phone lines, power and street lighting – will begin to be installed from April 15, causing the majority of the disruption.

Kamran Saleem, sales and administration manager, said: "Everything is going along well. The internal roads are just waiting to be signed off by planners before they are joined up to the main A461 road.

Closures

"This will be when the main roadworks will start, with rolling road closures.

"It will be towards the end of this when the roundabout is finished there will be some closures and diversions, but we want to try and keep this time to a minimum," he said.

BT will be starting the work on the road on April 15, followed by engineers from e-on who will be putting in the street lighting. Western Power Distribution will be in charge of the electrical work before the contractors move in to create the three-arm roundabout for the entrance to the 30,000-plot site along the dual carriageway.

The speed limit will be reduced from 60mph to 30mph along the road from its junction with Barracks Lane.

Brownies and guides in plea for volunteers

GIRL Guides and Brownies across Cannock are asking for people to come forward and work with them as volunteers.

The groups, which have units in Hednesford, Chadsmoor and central Cannock, meet five days a week for team building exercises, activities and badge work.

But with more than 60 girls on the waiting list, division commissioner Wendy Church said they were in desperate need of volunteers.

"We can't take on these girls until we sort out leaders," she said.

Waiting

We have 40 units throughout Cannock and if we took on a new volunteer in every unit, we could clear the waiting list.

"Volunteers are needed for around two hours a week to help out our girls with projects and working towards getting their badges.

"This experience will look great on a CV so I would encourage anyone who can spare a few hours a week to get in touch."

For more information about volunteering visit www.girlguiding.org.uk or to get involved email wendychurch@btinternet.com

Take ringside seat for a top night of boxing

The Premier Suite, at Bar Sport, in High Green is the venue for the Premier Boxing Gala Dinner Show from 7.30pm on April 18 with boxing clubs from all over the Midlands set to take part. The black tie event is held twice and features eight Amateur Boxing Association (ABA) fights.

Andy's on his bike to help the heroes

Andy Sawyer with his son Jack, aged seven, and back left, Lee Corbett, Lisa Mountford and David Manship

A FORMER RAF serviceman from Hednesford will be joining 250 others to cycle from Paris to London for Help for Heroes.

Andy Sawyer has been training hard ahead of the Big Battlefield Bike Ride, which will see him cover just short of 400 miles over five days. The group, which includes 60 injured servicemen, will stop at battlefields along the route before ending up at Blackheath in London on June 2 for a special ceremony.

Mr Sawyer, who works as a baker for Sainsbury's in Cannock, has been training hard for the big bike ride. It will be the third time the 44-year-old has participated in the annual event.

The married father-of-two has set himself a fundraising target of £4,500. To sponsor Mr Sawyer, visit www.bmycharity.com/andy sawyer2013

To add to the funds, a rock day took place at the Fern and Fallow pub in Stafford Road, Cannock, last weekend. It raised £510.

Fake clothes racket boss ordered to pay £57,000

A COUPLE who ran a £1 million fake designer clothes racket after buying goods from a Cannock charity and selling them on have been ordered to pay back more than £57,000.

The order was made on Hayley and Keith Horton, from Oldbury, under the Proceeds of Crime Act.

The couple, who ran the operation from home, each benefited by £187,512.26 from their criminal activity.

They sold fake designer clothes and bought cheap outfits from the Newlife Foundation before selling them on for a huge profit.

Hayley and Keith Horton

Risk

At the proceeds of crime hearing at Wolverhampton Crown Court last week, Judge Michael Dudley ordered Hayley Horton to pay back £57,263.50 in six months or risk facing an 18 month jail term.

Her husband was ordered to pay £130.44 within 28 days or face five days in prison.

The amounts were worked out on their individual assets and the couple's home was in Hayley's name.

Back in March 2012 Mrs Horton, now aged 41, who was the brains behind the outfit was jailed for 27 months for her part in the scheme, and her now former husband, aged 47 was jailed for 21 months.

The pair had pleaded guilty to seven charges of possessing counterfeit material, one of selling counterfeit material and five of money laundering. The pair of Harborne Road had funded a luxury lifestyle from their business – Wags Classy Rags.

Some of the clothing was bought fromNewlife and had new labels sewn inside.

Jonah, 5, all smiles at meeting One Direction

One Direction superfan, Jonah Barclay, from Bloxwich, meets his pop idols at the LG Arena

A YOUNG boy from Bloxwich, who is battling cancer, came face to face with his boyband idols One Direction.

Jonah Barclay, aged five, was given the chance to meet the chart-topping five, which includes Wolverhampton's Liam Payne.

Not only did the youngster get the chance to see the band perform their recent gig at Birmingham's LG Arena, he was one of a handful of people who got to sit in the front row and witness the sound checks beforehand.

Jonah was diagnosed with acute lymphoblastic leukemia in April 2010 and the visit was organised by charity Rays of Sunshine.

After listening to One Direction carry out their sound- checks and sing two of their hits, St Michael's Primary School pupil Jonah had his photograph taken with the band.

Great

He even stood next to his favourite, Zayn Malik.

Jonah was joined at the LG Arena by his father Paul and mother Emma, who said: "Jonah had a really great time and really enjoyed the concert. He loved it and he is full of smiles whenever he speaks about it."

Jonah, who loves dancing around to One Direction songs and playing football, is an avid fan of the boy band.

"Whenever they are on the television, Jonah likes us to tape it so he can watch it again," said Mrs Barclay, who is also mother to 16-month-old Nate.

"The boys chatted to the small crowd who were watching them and then came down for photographs. He had a wonderful time."

Mrs Barclay said Jonah was due to complete his treatment in November this year.

VIETNAM and Cambodia

The beautiful country of Vietnam is a mosaic of mist-shrouded mountains, vibrant green forests, a patch-work of rice paddies and pristine white beaches, whilst its villages and cities are custodians of the culture and monuments of a unique 2,000 year old civilisation.

In the past few years Vietnam has opened its doors to the world and much has changed. Today, in one of the world's last communist countries, the motorcycles and western dress of the youth happily co-exist with orange-clad Buddist monks and political posters from a different era.

On this 16-day tour you will visit Hue, one of the country's most beautiful small towns and the former imperial capital. Here you will be able to see the amazing Citadel and its imperial Forbidden City, as well as the magnificent seven-storied Thien Mu pagoda, a working Buddhist shrine.

Contorted by years of erosion, explore the staggeringly beautiful rock formations of Halong Bay, a UNESCO World Heritage site from on board a converted Chinese junk. Then in Saigon you will be taken on a visit to the Cu Chi tunnels, a complex underground network which provided a base for the Vietcong from which to attack US forces. You will see the tunnels themselves and examples of the many mantraps and stake pits which protected them.

The overwhelming image of Vietnam is that of a country blessed with extraordinary beauty and the friendly Vietnamese always courteous and proud to show of their wonderful country.

In Cambodia you can experience the haunting soft morning light rise over the eerie temples of Angkor. Then later discover the huge fortified 13th century city of Angkor Thom, with its five monumental gates, and 300ft wide moat – its centre containing one of Angkor's most remarkable sites, the temple of Bayon.

Poignant drama is to drive in

HAVING enjoyed sell-out runs on Broadway and in the West End, David Esbjornson's award-winning production of Alfred Uhry's Driving Miss Daisy motors in to Wolverhampton Grand Theatre from Tuesday to Saturday, April 9 to 1, as part of an extended tour.

The production stars Gwen Taylor, from Coronation Street, as Daisy Werthan, and Don Warrington, from Rising Damp and Death in Paradise, as her driver Hoke Coleburn. The cast also features Ian Porter as Boolie Werthan.

The play tells of the relationship between an elderly Jewish widow and her African American chauffeur in 1940s Atlanta. It was a hit film starring Jessica Tandy and Morgan Freeman.

REVIEW

Michael Jackson: The Immortal World Tour Cirque du Soleil, B'ham NIA

WELL This Is It, the Cirque du Soleil tribute show to the legendary Michael Jackson.

Flashing lights – and costumes – and loud thumping music added to the atmosphere at the packed NIA and the show was not at all Bad.

With fewer than the usual Cirque tricks this really was just a reminder of Jacko's superb music and dance and the acrobatic circus-style tricks served to illustrate the media circus that surrounded his life.

The dancers were superb with custom-made costumes, ghoulish Thriller mummies, Smooth Criminal fedoras and Billie Jean sequined jackets.

The gates of the Neverland Ranch provided the backdrop to this extravagant travelling show and the tour aims to show Jackson's global message of love, peace and unity.

High energy routines to Smooth Criminal, Dangerous and Thriller contrasted with the poignant I Just Can't Stop Loving You which played as two of the performers showed their skills with a stunning rope acrobatic display.

The background film footage traced his life from The Jackson 5 days with the memorable I'll Be There to his later life. The downside was the frequent flashing lights which made it difficult to actually focus on the dance and the performers. But I am sure Jacko would think they did him proud.

star extra TRAVEL

South Africa

South Africa is a country five times the size of Britain and it has so much to offer the visitor, including breath-taking wildlife, stunning scenery, a huge sense of history, bustling cities plus first class food and wine.

The holiday includes 13 nights bed and breakfast accommodation in specially selected three and four-star hotels, three evening meals and a variety of stunning excursions.

For most visitors the highlight will be a full day's game drive that brings the chance to see the sweeping savannah and muddy waterholes lined with animals, and to marvel at the incredible 150 mammal and 500 bird species that live in the Kruger National Park, including the 'big five': elephant, lion, rhino, leopard and buffalo. Rooms are reserved at the three-star superior Hippo Hollow Country Estate, located in the midst of lush forest on the banks of the Sabie River. It's open-air terrace overlooks the grounds and river, so watch out for the hippos!

Those interested in history will be intrigued by the visit to Zululand, passing through Swaziland en route, to reach the haunting battlefields of Islandlwana and Rorke's Drift. In 1879 these two battles, just a day apart, became a defining moment for the British Empire and the specialist Zulu guide will make those desperate encounters come alive.

A well-organised schedule of tours combined with free time in Cape Town, Johannesburg, in Knysna on the coast and at the Kruger National Park means everyone will experience the very heart of South Africa on this 16-day adventure.

Sid James

The Many Faces of Sid James
BBC2, 7.30pm
Did Sid James have many faces? Only one really springs to mind, and although it was usually described in less-than-flattering terms (one critic once wrote that it resembled "an unmade bed"), it was, in a sense, his fortune. Sid was instantly recognisable, nobody else looked quite like him, which meant he was memorable – a trait every would-be star needs. This documentary examines the Carry On star's extraordinary life and career, from his early years in South Africa to his success as an actor in the UK.

Stephen Mulhern

Catchphrase
ITV, 6.45pm

'It's good, but it's not right,' remains one of the best-loved game show catchphrases of the past 20 years, largely because of host Roy Walker. Between 1986 and 1999, the Northern Irish comedian owned that jovial series, but while Nick Weir and Mark Curry later attempted to breathe new life into the format, by the end of December 2002, it seemed that was that. Now, after a long rest, it's Stephen Mulhern's turn asking contestants and audiences to "say what they see". As ever, players compete to guess the familiar phrases hidden in animated clues.

Pick of the Week

Boxing match sets the alarm bells ringing

There's nothing like a good, old-fashioned reunion, is there? At first glance, The Security Men doesn't seem to be contain one, but if you look a little deeper, there are a couple...

Initially, you may think that the pairing of Caroline Aherne and Bobby Ball is a strange one. Okay, so they're both well-known for their collaborations with others – Ball with his long-standing comedy partner Tommy Cannon and Aherne most notably with Craig Cash, with whom she created The Royle Family – but their comedy styles have little in common.

But they're together for this new offering, and not for the first time either – their first collaboration came with The Fattest Man in Britain, which aired in 2009.

That one-off comedy drama also featured Brendan O'Carroll, who appears here too, and was co-written by Aherne and Joe Pope; they've created this series, for which ITV's head honchos have very high hopes indeed. ITV's director of entertainment and comedy Elaine Bedell says of it: "We're absolutely delighted to be working with Caroline and Jeff, two writers at the top of their game.

"I'm a huge fan of both and believe together they have created some of the best comedy scripts for television.

"Combined with the talent and wit of our cast, The Security Men is a very fresh and exciting project for ITV."

Sadly Aherne won't be acting in the series, but Ball and O'Carroll will be joined on screen by Paddy McGuinness, Peter Wight and Dean Andrews.

The plot of each episode focuses on the working lives of security guards working the night shift at a fictional Manchester shopping centre called The Whittington.

The guards are supposed to spend their time making sure the place is safe and burglar-free; in reality, they're a bunch of work-shy individuals who would prefer to avoid working at all – in fact, they expend far more energy avoiding the watchful eye of their boss than they do carrying out their duties.

The first episode sees them desperate to watch a televised boxing match, and think they've worked out a way to make it possible – if they switch off the alarms they can enter an electrical store and simply watch the bout on one of its big-screen, surround-sound, state-of-the-art TVs.

What can possibly go wrong? Well, as you may have guessed, an awful lot in a very short space of time...

If The Security Men takes off, will this mean the end of The Royle Family? Aherne hasn't made a decision on that, but seeing as the last few Christmas specials featuring the layabout clan have been rather disappointing, few would be sad to say farewell to them – and perhaps the writer/director/actress could use a fresh start with new characters

This is her first new comedy series for more than a decade, since the short-lived Dossa and Joe in 2002, and she could probably use a hit. Let's hope The Security Guards is it – and is worth waiting for.

Bobby Ball and Brendan O'Carroll star in The Security Men, Friday, ITV, 9pm

Best of the Rest

MONDAY

Broadchurch

ITV, 9pm

ITV isn't giving much away about this drama, and thank goodness for that. You may think you want to know exactly what's going on, but take a second to think about that – do you really want to know every single intricate twist and turn? Do you really want to know who killed Danny Latimer before anybody else? Okay, so it might be fine and dandy to have the kudos of being 'in the know', but that would soon wear off, and you'd be left wondering why you'd spoilt the suspense for yourself. So... what can we tell you about this week's plot? Well, the locals are about to gather together to mourn Danny's passing. But while doing that, a new suspect in his murder comes to light.

The Prisoners

BBC1, 9pm

This new, three-part documentary series focuses on convicts stuck in a vicious circle – some of them, it seems, are no sooner let out onto the streets before reoffending and ending up back inside. The opening edition takes a look at the lives of inmates at Holloway Prison in London, which in the past has housed such infamous figures as Ruth Ellis, Myra Hindley, Diana Mosley and Maxine Carr. The women featured here aren't as notorious, but their lives are extraordinary in a way. Jayde is only 18 but this is her sixth spell in jail, while 23-year-old Crystal claims she feels at home at Holloway, having been a regular there for the past six years.

TUESDAY

UEFA Champions League Live

ITV, 7.30pm

Galatasaray host European giants Real Madrid in this quarter-final second-leg clash at the Turk Telekom Arena in Istanbul. With last week's reverse fixture at the Bernabeu fresh in their memories, both clubs will be looking to do enough here to book a place in the competition's semi-finals, and take the next step toward its conclusion at Wembley Stadium next month. Whatever the outcome of the first leg, the Turkish outfit will have to improve upon their home form in this season's competition, having won just once in front of their own fans, that being a 1-0 victory in the group stage against a depleted Manchester United side.

WEDNESDAY

Victoria Wood's Nice Cup of Tea

BBC1, 9pm

Apparently, this two-part documentary had the working title The Great British Cuppa, which made it sound like a televised contest to be judged by Mary Berry, with marks deducted for letting the leaves stew too long. Instead though, it's a two-part documentary which sees one national institution, Victoria Wood, celebrating the history of another, the cup of tea. But it seems the humble brew hasn't always had such a cosy image. In the past, tea has helped to trigger wars – and aided Britain in winning them. Victoria's quest to find out how this small, exotic plant came to pay such a big part in British life takes her from the back streets of Kolkata to the mega city of Shanghai.

Jodie Marsh: Bullied, Thursday, Channel 5, 10pm

THURSDAY

James May's Man Lab

BBC2, 8pm

In Poole, 1973, James May Snr, lost his wedding ring on the beach at Sandbanks. Thankfully, his quick-thinking wife returned with a deep fat fryer basket so they could sieve the sand and find the ring. Alas, they failed. So, with the aid of geomorphologist Vincent May (no relation), James May Jnr pulls out all the stops in the hope of finding his dad's beloved ring four decades on. He also develops a gadget (aka model train) which can filter junk mail, and recaptures the spirit of pirate radio, with the aid of a canal barge, a 3G box of tricks, six sim cards and plenty of other hi-tech gubbins.

Jodie Marsh: Bullied

Channel 5, 10pm

Last week we saw glamour model-turned-bodybuilder Jodie Marsh jet off to the USA on a fact-finding mission; she wanted to know how the American education system was dealing with bullying. What she discovered was rather enlightening, and now she wants to introduce some of its methods to the UK, where almost half of children claim they have suffered from some form of bullying. Jodie visits Carlton Community College in Barnsley, a school with a troubled past whose new headmaster, Neil Hutchinson, wants to turn its fortunes around – can Jodie and her anti-bullying campaigner friend Alex give him the help he needs?

FRIDAY

Isaac Newton: The Last Magician

BBC2, 9pm

At first glance, the title of this one-off documentary may seem a bit unlikely. After all, Isaac Newton is considered to be a genius, a great rationalist who laid the foundation for many scientific and mathematical breakthroughs. So, surely he didn't have a sideline in pulling rabbits out of hats? Well, no, but it turns out he did have an interest in the alchemy, heretical religion and the occult. His more controversial obsessions were glossed over in the wake of his death to protect his reputation, but when economist John Maynard Keynes bought Newton's papers in 1936, the truth began to emerge – and this documentary offers further insights into a complicated man.

Audi's clever cylinder deactivation, now introduced to the A1 and A3, helps to cut fuel consumption

Audi cylinder systems are designed to save on fuel

Audi has revealed A1 and A3 models featuring the same cylinder deactivation systems as its high-performance S and RS models.

'Cylinder-on-Demand' (CoD) technology, which will also be employed in Volkswagen's Polo BlueGT, shuts down the fuel supply to half the engine's cylinders under light throttle inputs and noticeably increases fuel economy.

The two new Audi models will share a 138bhp turbocharged 1.4-litre petrol engine which with the help of the CoD system has averaged up to 60.1mpg under the current official tests. The figure applies to the A1, A1 Sportback and three-door A3, with the five-door A3 Sportback dipping slightly to 58.9mpg. CO2 emissions are just 109g/km for the two A1s and the lighter A3. The A3 Sportback is not far behind, on 112g/km, but does sit one road tax band higher and costs £30 for a year instead of £20.

CoD technology, which when used with gentle throttle inputs is imperceptible in its operation, is the latest in the Volkswagen Group's efforts to lower the environmental impact of its cars.

Two of the 1.4-litre engine's four cylinders can be shut off or restarted in just 13 milliseconds, making it supremely advanced among its small petrol engine rivals. As standard it is combined with stop-start technology for further increased efficiency.

It is an 'intelligent' system that judges how the driver is driving and only deactivates cylinders if conditions are right. For example, if the sensors detect an irregular throttle usage pattern like on a twisting road or through a set of roundabouts, CoD will not activate.

Nor will the system work under engine braking, allowing all four cylinders to support deceleration.

With almost identical fuel consumption figures but no default emissions penalties, the CoD-equipped models represent a significant company car tax saving of around 40 per cent compared to the A1 and A3 diesels, according to Audi.

Honda's new bike is a winner all round

Potholes will prove no problem for the new Honda CRF 250L

The sleek CRF 250L is at home in ther city and in the fields

By Bob Hickman

AT long last a motorcycle manufacturer has appreciated that there are an awful lot of riders who want to have fun and are not enamoured by the power surging, race replica motorcycles that seem to be the norm.

Honda with the introduction of the CRF 250L have reintroduced the fun aspect in to motor cycling with this new single cylinder 250cc motorcycle.

Honda over the years have honed the off-road marketplace and their racing pedigree goes before it, I remember many years ago the sheer enjoyment that light weight trail bikes, especially Yamaha with their 175cc, could give to the motorcyclist. They were brilliant for commuting but then if you had the opportunity to venture off-road and go down a few green lanes a whole new world was there to be examined.

Honda with the new CRF 250 have reintroduced this element, it is a brand new motorcycle that blends true off-road performance with style and the opportunity to have a street legal commuter machine as well, so you really can have your cake and eat.

The new bike is powered by a free revving 249cc single cylinder DOHC 4-valve engine. This liquid cooled product produces a reasonable power output and has a torque factor that whilst not overly excitable enables the engine to rev and as most motorcyclists appreciate that is where performance on a motorcycle comes from.

It is fuel injected so this gives reasonably good fuel economy and certainly you should be looking for at least 60 or 70 mpg from this machine if you are going to be using it for commuting purposes. One of the big features of fuel injection is the smooth power delivery,

Countdown

The quality of the 250L shines through and the steel oval section twin spar frame is a work of art. It has 43mm upside down Showa forks at the front and these are complemented at the back with a single Showa shock absorber and Honda's proven pro-link suspension. This enables the machine to glide over ruts and bumps and certainly enables it to not be feared by potholes should you be using this bike for commuting. What it does give is a rear end section that is capable of moving with the terrain and finding grip thanks to the pseudo off-road tyres that are fitted.

To ensure that the performance can be adequately reined in when required Honda have equipped the bike with a single 256mm front disc and at the rear a smaller 220mm disc. The front one has the benefit of a twin piston operated system, whilst the rear one has a single piston option. The wheel rims are aluminium and have spokes for rigidity, and this also helps to reduce the unsprung weight.

The seat height is extremely high and those vertically challenged or with short legs will find it to be a problem but once on the machine the long travel suspension just swallows out undulations, bumps and whatever you may encounter if you venture off-road.

The engine was at all times extremely responsive, the gearbox is an absolute delight to operate and unlike most Honda gear boxes it didn't clunk when you selected 1st gear.

The instrumentation was clear and easy to understand and the digital dashboard really gave you what you needed to be fully aware of, including a countdown graphic for when the fuel level was getting low.

The 7.7 litre fuel tank is not huge, but the economics of this particular machine are not one of a touring bike where you need a big capacity and it was more than sufficient for off-roading and riding to work situations.

With a price of £3,950 I am reasonably confident that the CRF 250L will be yet another of the successes for the Honda stable and with their excellent warranty and after sales service, I can see nothing but success for this machine.

The CRF 250L is both smart and functional

Volkswagen has developed a number of engine types, each to suit a different type of driving

Prices look set to rocket

FIRST, the good news. Within a year or two, you'll be able to buy ordinary cars with all kinds of drivetrains designed to fit exact day-to-day needs and driving styles.

The chief undercurrent at this year's Geneva Motor Show was that of drivetrain expansion, where normal, everyday and production-ready cars are now powered not just by petrol, diesel and electricity but myriad combinations of the three, plus natural gas, hydrogen and even human faeces.

And herein lies the bad news. In the quest for every last mile per gallon, billions of pounds are being spent, and because the drivetrain solutions are so varied and technical (just look at how complex even ordinary internal combustion engines have become), the likely production runs will have to be smaller to accommodate the variety.

That means prices are going to rocket, again.

Back in 2005, the Volkswagen Golf GTi, arguably the finest all-round car there was, went on sale for less than £20,000. When the 2013 model arrives it could cost almost £30,000 as a five-door, depending on how sterling does against the euro, and that near-50 per cent increase is for a normal car in just eight years.

But Volkswagen has also developed petrol-electric hybrids, diesel-electric hybrids, plug-in hybrids, range-extender hybrids, electric-only drivetrains, natural gas-burning techniques and more besides.

Expensive

Each will suit a different kind of driving, and if people buy the right one for them it means that sales will be spread across many different and independently expensive propulsion systems.

Production volumes will be comparatively low for each, and prices therefore have to be higher to recoup the development costs.

What's the point of saving £25 per thousand miles when your car is costing £100 more every month just to own? It's complete nonsense and ultimately self-destructive for the industry. Recent surveys have shown that young Europeans, especially those in cities, are turning away from car ownership altogether because it's just too expensive.

Neat, modern car rental systems like Zipcar give them the chance to forget car ownership but still drive if they need to, and if that trend keeps expanding then car manufacturers are going to fall victim to a colossal global crash that will see hundreds of thousands of jobs axed, national economies crippled and the only remaining car brand as Dacia.

It's simple economics and the European Parliament is mostly to blame. By forcing manufacturers to reduce CO2 so quickly, they're actually forcing prices skywards as the task gets harder and harder.

And all the time fewer and fewer people will actually want, or be able, to pay for a car.

The car industry is in danger of biting off more than it can chew. It's time for Europe to recognise the need to keep car prices down for its own good.

There's no time for a siesta in this Fiesta

Ford's new Fiesta ST which is certain to go down a storm with UK buyers

By Ian Donald-

PICTURE the scene; ahead of you is a ribbon of road stretching to the far horizon with tempting corners and nobody else about. Do you take the 'dream' Lamborghini or Ford's new zesty Fiesta?

The Lambo, of course. Or perhaps not. The road is rather narrow and there are enough nasty surfaces (the odd pothole too) to make the Italian rocket feel big and a bit fragile.

So you don your sensible hat and jump into the Fiesta ST, latest in a line of entertaining small Fords that started with the XR2 in 1981 and soon became the nation's favourite hot hatch.

Nothing much is likely to change 32 years later, with the UK set to take 5,000 ST Fiestas annually, around half of European sales overall. Yes, we still love a quick, affordable Ford.

And affordable the new baby with attitude really is.

There are two versions, the plainly titled ST at £16,795 and the better equipped ST2 at £17,795, both of them clearly undercutting obvious rivals from the likes of Renault and (soon) Peugeot.

Powering the ST is a potent 182 horsepower, 1.6 litre turbo petrol engine that promises decent economy when you're not enjoying that sinuous snake of Tarmac mentioned above.

But what marks the newcomer out isn't its outright performance, but the compelling way it refuses to turn into a springless skateboard when the road turns from billiard table smooth to B-road brittle.

Engineering

It's a genuine engineering achievement to produce a car that's so much fun, practically wherever you happen to be.

The Lamborghini, on the other hand, will turn all pouty at the first sign of a speedbump, never mind a width restrictor or the crawl to work in the morning.

On paper, there's nothing magic about the ST.

It could be one of many small hatches designed to add a dash of spice to everyday driving.What sets the car apart (and Ford has form in this department) is the obvious attention to the smallest detail that other car makers give up on sooner.

You can't tell by looking, you have to take a Fiesta ST for a longish drive, where the supple but sporty suspension, perfectly weighted steering and brakes that practically start a conversation with your right foot will have you wanting more.

What you can tell by looking is that the ST stands out from its softer siblings, thanks to a bold honeycomb radiator grille, large rear spoiler and twin exhausts.

There are big alloy wheels, tinted glass and a slightly lower stance too. Inside, you'll find grippy front seats in cloth as the main marker that here is a car designed to corner quickly. A heated windscreen (which is just magic on those frosty mornings) and a DAB radio are standard too. Pay your extra £1,000 for an ST2 and you add heated and part leather seats, a better sound system, darkened glass for rear seat passengers and a button to start the engine, with the key left in your pocket.

Both versions share a dashboard that was clearly inspired by mobile phones but looks a bit old hat and cluttered, but there's no denying the quality of everything you can see and touch. And you certainly won't be trying to tune the radio when you're having so much fun producing a different sort of music from beneath the bonnet.

STAFFORDSHIRE AND STOKE-ON-TRENT JOINT WASTE LOCAL PLAN 2010 – 2026 DEVELOPMENT PLAN DOCUMENT ADOPTION STATEMENT: 4 APRIL 2013

PLANNING AND COMPULSORY PURCHASE ACT 2004 THE TOWN AND COUNTRY PLANNING (LOCAL PLANNING) (ENGLAND) REGULATIONS 2012 NOTICE OF ADOPTION OF THE JOINT WASTE LOCAL PLAN

In accordance with Regulations 26 and 35 of the above, notice is hereby given that the Staffordshire and Stoke-on-Trent Joint Waste Local Plan 2010 - 2026 Development Plan Document (The Plan) was adopted by Staffordshire County Council on 15 March 2013 and by Stoke-on-Trent City Council on 21 March 2013.

The Plan provides a strategy to manage waste development in Staffordshire and Stoke-on-Trent for the period up to 2026, setting out where, when and how new waste management facilities will be developed and assessed. It will replace the existing Staffordshire and Stoke-on-Trent Waste Local Plan (1998-2011) in determining waste planning applications.

The Plan was considered by an Independent Inspector at an examination in public held over three days in April and June 2012. The Inspector's Report was published on 4 February 2013 and the adopted Plan incorporates the changes recommended by the Inspector. The Inspector's Report, the Plan, the Sustainability Appraisal and the submission documents can be viewed during normal opening hours at: Staffordshire County Council No. 1 Staffordshire Place Stafford ST16 2LP; and, Stoke-on-Trent City Council Civic Centre, Glebe St, Stoke-on-Trent, ST4 1RF. and on the Councils' website www.staffordshire.gov.uk/wcs,. Internet access can be gained from all public libraries in Staffordshire and Stoke-on-Trent or at the Councils' main receptions.

Any person aggrieved by the Plan may make an application to the High Court under Section 113 of the Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act 2004 on the grounds that:
(a) the document is not within the appropriate power;
(b) a procedural requirement has not been complied with.
An application must be made promptly, and in any event, no later than the end of the period of six weeks of starting with the date of the adoption of the Local Plan, i.e. by 16 May 2013.

For further details please contact Julie Castree-Denton on 01785 277293 planning@staffordshire.gov.uk

Signed Helen Riley.
Deputy Chief Executive & Director for Place, Staffordshire County Council

Saddlers' chance to gatecrash play-offs

BOSS Dean Smith reckons the promotion race is wide open and Walsall can still gatecrash the play-offs.

The Saddlers crushed Coventry 4-0 on Easter Monday to extend their unbeaten run to 12 games and now sit three points adrift of the top six.

Doubles from Jamie Paterson and Craig Westcarr earned Walsall their biggest win of the season ahead of Saturday's crunch visit of fourth-placed Sheffield United.

With 10 points separating third-placed Brentford to MK Dons in 10th, Smith reckons the League One play-offs are up for grabs.

"There are that many teams involved," he said, with Walsall eighth. Orient have won and MK Dons won again – you can't count anyone out.

"We're still the outsiders, but our run suggests we've got a chance.

"It depends on the fixtures now, who plays who and how they go.

"The likes of ourselves and Yeovil, who no-one expected to be up there, have taken the points off teams people fancied."

Comeback side on cue for the final

CHASE RUGELEY hit the comeback trail to book their place in the final of the West Midlands Snooker League inter-town championship at the expense of defending champions Wolverhampton.

The holders looked to be in charge of the contest as they opened up a 2-0 lead thanks to wins from Mark O'Neill and Chris Jones.

Troy Shaw rattled in a 65 break on his way to cutting the deficit, but Wolverhampton's Richard Davies, with runs of 37 and 40, put his side 3-1 up at the interval.

Chase rallied with Adrian Rosa pulling a frame back before Nathan Wood edged to a tense victory over Lee Haselum. Steve Smart then completed the fightback by beating Colin Reade to clinch a 4-3 success for Chase.

Chase will face Stourbridge A in the final after they pocketed an impressive win against tournament favourites Sedgley & Gornal.

Wins for brothers in arms

Boxing

GREAT WYRLEY ABC brothers Jamie and Ryan Mansell both emerged victorious in bouts at Stoke to continue the club's unbeaten run in 2013.

Sixteen-year-old Jamie Mansell, at 6ft 1in, is tall for a welterweight but found himself conceding at least two inches in height to James Thompson.

While the Five Towns ABC man had the reach, he couldn't penetrate the watertight guard of Mansell.

Everything Thompson threw was caught on the gloves of the Wyrley boxer, who then replied to knock back his rival's head and bloody his nose in the first round.

Mansell stood off his opponent in the second round a little too much for his corner's liking but, for all his endeavour, Thompson just couldn't unpick Mansell's defence. In the last round, Thompson resorted to big right-hand swings which played into Mansell's hands as he stepped in with sharp counters. Mansell was well worth his majority points win.

This time last year, 20-year-old Ryan Mansell was a 106kg super-heavyweight and losing his first two fights against giant rivals. Fast-forward 12 months and he has lost nearly three stones to weigh in at 84kg and fight opponents more his natural size.

In the opposite corner at Stoke was the strong Edgar Barkovskis of Mansfield ABC. Barkovskis took the first round as Mansell struggled to find any rhythm. After a severe talking-to from his corner Mansell got into the bout in the second round as he landed good punches to head and body.

It was all on the last round and after an initial 20-second burst of punches from Barkovskis, Mansell came on strong, landing good body punches which seemed to snap the strength of the Mansfield boxer and reduce him to holding on in the final stages. A tight majority decision went to Mansell, who deserved his second successive victory for the effort he put in.

Icy spell but home team are on fire

Wolves 59 Belle Vue 33

TRACK staff beat the cold – and Wolves turned up the heat. Club officials burned wooden pallets on part of the Monmore Green circuit after spending 24 hours clearing snow.

And from the moment Tai Woffinden partnered Ty Proctor to a maximum 5-1 in the opening race there was no looking back. The Parrys International Wolves were helped by a comedy of Aces errors.

As early as the first heat Kevin Wolbert made a flying start then pulled up thinking the race was stopped after seeing a flashing red light – but it was the two-minute time allowance light left on by referee Jim Lawrence.

Aces boss Jason Attwood used both tactical rides against flying Wolves skipper Freddie Lindgren.

Magnus Zetterstrom split the Lindgren brothers, Freddie and Ludvig, in heat seven to share the race 4-4. And Matej Zagar, on double points against the same pairing four races later, was beaten by both of them.

Belle Vue only managed one race advantage in heat 14 when talented British youngster Craig Cook pulled off his only win over Ludvig Lindgren.

Freddie Lindgren rounded the night off with a brilliant display in heat 15 as Zagar got the better of Woffinden, the Wolves No.1 dropping his only points of the night.

Wolves will face a different challenge when they go to Eastbourne on Saturday and then welcome title favourites Poole on Monday.

Wolves: Tai Woffinden 13, Freddie Lindgren 12+1, Ludvig Lindgren 9, Ty Proctor 7+4, Jacob Thorssell 7+3, Ricky Wells 7+2, Adam Skornicki 4.

Belle Vue: Magnus Zetterstrom 10, Matej Zagar 8, Kevin Wolbert 4+1, Craig Cook 4, Artur Mroczka 4, Kauko Nieminen 2, Ales Dryml 1.

New-look Lionesses to roar back at rugby club

A WOMEN'S rugby team is relaunching more than a decade since ladies last scrummed down in Cannock's colours.

A threadbare squad of 15 players has formed and the Cannock Lionesses are appealing for new blood to come forward and bolster the ranks.

Preparations are well under way for next season, with training sessions taking place at the Lions' Stafford Road base. But players aged 16-plus are needed.

Rugby union

Captain Rhiannon Greenway has longstanding family connections with the club.

Her grandfather and father, both called Jim O'Sullivan, are former presidents and her son Jake, aged 12, and daughter Millie, nine, have become the fourth generation of her family to wear the blue and gold jersey.

The 32-year-old residential manager said the sport was growing in popularity among women.

Novices

She said: "We have the Rugby World Cup coming to England in 2015 and there is money being pumped into the women's game.

"The England side has been very successful and are playing some really attractive rugby.

"We are very much a side of all abilities, with many novices who have only been playing for three weeks.

"We have some qualified and very experienced coaches and the idea is to start playing games in the new season after a few months of training.

"It is a great sport to play and you do get a lot of enjoyment out of it, so I would really recommend it to anyone who feels like giving it a go.

"For me there is a personal connection to wanting to do this. I have been associated with the club all my life and my family has been involved for years.

"My two children absolutely love playing the game and I thought it was time we tried to get a women's team on the go after more than 15 years."

Anyone who is interested in joining the side can contact Greenway by calling 07813 637418 or emailing her at rhian non001@live.co.uk.

Prospective players and sponsors can also contact the club on 01543 495211.

■ Meanwhile, Burntwood men's teams had no matches over Easter. The postponed fixture with Stourbridge Lions has been re-arranged for Saturday, April 27, which means that the club's weekend trip to Abercarn in South Wales has been postponed until next season.

Important victory as Harvey at the double

Hednesford Town 3 Buxton 2

NEIL HARVEY got two goals in the second half on Saturday to help Hednesford Town to an important victory over Buxton in the Evo-Stik Northern Premier Division.

The Keys Park pitch was surrounded by three feet of snow but the surface was more than adequate and the home side looked comfortable in the first half as Kris Taylor opened the scoring on seven minutes with a superb left- footed volley which flew past the unsighted Ian Deakin.

Harvey hammered a shot inches wide shortly afterwards, but Dan Crane had to be brave when he dived at the feet of Adam Muller to prevent the Buxton striker scoring an equaliser.

Harvey was the man on the spot in the 54th minute when some impressive football down the right gave Elliott Durrell the chance to smash a low cross towards the back post.

Disney on ice – John Disney retrieves the ball

But, just as the second goal looked to have settled the Pitmen, Buxton substitute Michael Towey ghosted into the area and finished past Crane to reduce the arrears three minutes later.

Harvey picked up John Disney's deflected cross and finished well on 76 minutes but Hednesford again let the away side back into the game when Mark Reed scrambled the ball in with three minutes to go.

But Crane was the toast of the Pitmen supporters with a low save at the death to preserve three vital points.

Hednesford Town: Crane, Disney, Campion, Bailey, Francis, MacPherson, Osborne, Durrell, Harvey (Rey 84), Lennon, Taylor. Subs not used: O'Connor, Patterson, Barnes, Wright,

Buxton: Deakin, Black, Sandwith (Towey 49), Thornhill, Haggerty, Roberts, Stevens, Maxfield, Morris (Duncum 84), Muller (Reed 56), Green. Subs not used: Palmer, Turner,

Chris Slater clears in the game against Halesowen

Theo Robinson pounces for the Scholars' second goal

Danny Bragoli on the charge in Chasetown's victory

Stats show Chasetown hit form at right time

Chasetown 3 Halesowen Town 0

THE momentum is with Chasetown as they are coming up on the rails for a possible play off place.

The statistics make excellent reading – since drawing 4-4 at Sutton Coldfield in January, the Scholars have won 10 out of the last 13 league fixtures, or nine out of the last 11, or seven of the last eight. Whichever way round, the stats show Chasetown to be bang in form, writes Paul Mullins.

After 60 people working over the course of two days cleared 12 inches of snow off the pitch, it was in excellent condition for this Easter Monday Evo-Stik Northern Premier First Division South game. It was certainly a considerably better playing surface than the one which saw Chasetown's win in Derbyshire at the weekend.

Arguably against the run of play, Chasetown took the lead in the 13th minute. Nick Wellecomme was instrumental in retaining possession inside the visitors' penalty area and when he rolled the ball to Paul Sullivan his low cross was turned home by Theo Robinson within the six yard box.

With 30-goal marksman Ben Haseley in their line-up, Halesowen were always going to pose a threat and it was the Yeltz No.10 who went close to an equaliser when his effort struck Ryan Price's left-hand post.

Halesowen ended the half with the better chances – Price palmed over a long range effort from Mitchell Botfield and then made a low save to deny Haseley.

Chasetown FC

Although skipper Richard Teesdale won the sponsor's Man of the Match, many supporters plumped for striker Paul Sullivan.

Sullivan turned provider for Robinson again just short of the hour mark when his mazy run took him into the penalty area and a slide rule pass to the unmarked Robinson saw Chasetown double their advantage.

Keeper Paul Evans kept out Wellecomme as Craig Harris' men began to dominate proceedings in arguably their best half of the current winning run.

Chasetown killed the game off seven minutes from time when Danny Bragoli's corner was headed across goal where Sullivan turned to thump an unstoppable volley.

Chasetown: Price, Farmer, Jackson, Slater, Tesfa Robinson, Teesdale, Westwood (Downes, 90 mins), Bragoli, Wellecomme, Sullivan, Theo Robinson (Gould, 85 mins). Subs not used: Brown, Hay, Kisiel.

Halesowen Town: Evans, Bowen, Meacham (Baker, 69 mins), Botfield, Hull, Parker, Griffiths, Barnfield, Gueyes. Haseley, Whisper (Arshad, 82 mins). Subs not used: Hill, Tonks, Flower.

Sullivan and Hay wrap up the points for Scholars

Gresley FC 1 Chasetown 4

CHASETOWN were good value for the three points in Derbyshire on Saturday, writes Paul Mullins.

The Scholars could not have wished for a better start as they took the lead inside the sixth minute. With the home defence appealing for an offside flag that was never forthcoming, Paul Sullivan had all the time in the world to slot the ball beyond Gary Hateley.

Gresley had periods of pressure but it was Chasetown who were creating the goalscoring opportunities and were perhaps unfortunate not to be awarded a penalty when Theo Robinson was sent tumbling inside the penalty area.

The visitors doubled their lead within five minutes of the restart. Craig Harris' men capitalised on a slip by Jordi Gough in the home defence presenting Sullivan with another clear shot at goal and again the youngster did not disappoint.

With six minutes remaining, the Moat Men set up a possible grandstand finish when Michael Nottingham netted from close range.

Ryan Price tipped over a Marc Goodfellow effort as Gresley pushed for an equaliser, but it was Chasetown who wrapped up the game with a third goal in the second minute of injury time from subsitute Gary Hay

If that was the icing on the cake for Chasetown, a fourth goal two minutes later was the cherry on the top as Hay netted again.

Goodwin on hand for the GB challenge

IT'S crunch time tonight for Cannock handball star Ryan Goodwin.

The 18-year-old lines up for Great Britain this evening as they look to keep alive their qualification hopes for the 2016 European Championships.

Britain will make their first appearance on home soil since the London 2012 Olympics when they face Italy at the Ravenscraig Regional Sports Centre near Motherwell. And Goodwin, who plays centre, is set to have a key part.

Britain must beat the Italians this evening to go second in the three-team group with both teams without points after losing to Greece.

And Britain must then turn the tables on the Greeks at London's Crystal Palace on Sunday with only the group winners qualifying for the second phase of qualification for the finals in Poland in 2016.

Popular

Goodwin is back in Britain for the crucial double-header – he currently lives in Denmark, where he is on a one-year handball scholarship at a college in Aarhus.

His father, Wayne Goodwin, said: "You can't make a living at handball in Britain but you can in parts of Europe, where it is a really popular sport.

"Ryan's aim is to turn professional and hopefully a year in Denmark, where the coaching and facilities are better, will help him."

Greece ran out 43-14 winners against Britain in their opening phase one qualifying match in Loutraki in October. The Greeks went on to beat Italy 31-25.

Captain and goalkeeper Bobby White, who was part of the British team at the London 2012 Olympics, believes that qualification is not impossible.

"We will be going into these matches with confidence, knowing that when we're at our best we can compete with these teams," said White.

"In June 2012 we lost narrowly to both teams away in Italy but I am hoping that on home soil, with a home crowd behind us, we can go that little bit further and go for the win.

Goodwin, who began playing handball at Cardinal Griffin School in Cannock, will captain Britain's Under-19s in the European Open in Denmark in July.

PITMEN HOPES HIT BY A LATE LEVELLER

Rushall Olympic 2 Hednesford Town 2

HEDNESFORD's hopes of catching leaders North Ferriby United suffered a blow in an Easter Monday derby draw at Rushall.

Pics grabbed a late leveller after it looked as if Hednesford had clinched the three points a few minutes earlier. But while the Pitmen slipped eight points behind with only two games in hand, Rushall remained a point off third place in the Evo-Stik Northern Premier Division and strongly in contention for a play-off place.

Top scorer Dave Walker gave the Pics an early lead. A Grant Beckett corner was cleared poorly to Lee Downes. His quick thinking played in Walker, who drilled past keeper Dan Crane.

Sean O'Connor, on as a substitute, levelled for Town after 27 minutes when he headed home from a John Disney corner. The flag-kick was controversial as the referee deemed Josh Craddock got a touch to concede the corner, although Pics claimed there was no contact.

Chris Gemmell had earlier added to his catalogue of stunning saves this season to keep out Aaron Rey and Michael Lennon, but gifted Hednesford the lead with three minutes to play. Kyle Paterson pounced to score when a pass-back bobbled over Gemmell's boot.

But captain Wayne Daniel's towering header from Beckett's corner gave Rushall a deserved point with a minute of normal time remaining.

Rushall Olympic: Gemmell, K Haynes, Beckett, Tolley, Daniel, Caines, Downes, Craddock, Walker, Obeng (Islam 79), Stephens (Landell 75). Subs not used: Spittle, J Haynes, Edmunds.

Hednesford Town: Crane, Disney, Campion, Bailey, Francis, Barnes (Patterson 67), Osbourne, Durrell, Harvey (Rey 19), Lennon (O'Connor 76), Taylor. Subs not used: Macpherson, Wright.

Referee: J Price. Attendance: 602.

Slim hope of play-offs is dashed

Cannock 2 Canterbury 3

CANNOCK'S slim chances of making the play-offs in the Men's Hockey League Premier Division were dashed by this defeat.

Dan Coultas put Cannock ahead with a drag flick after only eight minutes, but Nat Joy soon equalised three minutes later. In a moment of defensive disarray, Cannock let in Huw Stevens who scored for Canterbury.

Cannock quickly rallied and a fine cross from Robbie Smith found Will Hearne for a simple tap-in.

On three occasions Cannock got through with only the keeper to beat but could not find the finish.

Canterbury got a late winner through Michael Farrer and go into the play-offs with Beeston, Surbiton and Reading.

Hayes let lead slip but make their point

Highgate United 4
Heath Hayes 4

HEATH HAYES missed a golden opportunity to move out of the Midland Alliance relegation places when they squandered a two-goal lead.

It could have been worse for Hayes – they had to battle back for a point.

Lee Smith twice had the ball in the net early on for Hayes, but both efforts were ruled out by the referee.

Gate took the lead somewhat against the run of play when a tame-looking effort from Neil Kitching was spilled by keeper Adam Lane and Liam Florey tapped home the loose ball.

Hayes were level within five minutes when a long-range effort from Chris Deakin deceived home keeper Shaun Edwards.

Chad Degville-Cross then finished off an excellent move to give the visitors an interval lead.

Smith made it 3-1 just after the restart and it looked as if it was going to be a question of how many.

But on the hour the game changed dramatically when the home side scored three goals in 10 minutes.

DJ Pitt was allowed far too much room and ran through unchallenged to beat Lane with ease. Andrew Tuck was then adjudged to have handled in the box and Kitching stroked home from the spot and Pitt put his side in front with the Hayes defence all over the place.

It took Hayes a while to responded but, although Smith deservedly got the equaliser, Hayes were unable to find that elusive winner.

Last night they were hosting local rivals Rocester.
